Is No Greater Than Its Weakest Link

—Shaw

In order to maintain the tradition set by the faculty and students of Liberty High School, the role of the student in providing the strength of the chain must be clearly defined. Each link must be durable and sturdy. It must, while retaining its own personality, be woven with each of the others in order that the chain may function as a whole. The links — wisdom, learning, leadership, competition, and participation — which compose the chain remain unbreakable as each student does his part to uphold this tradition.

Wisdom identifies itself through the faculty and administration of LHS. This vital link stimulates the students' ambition for acquiring knowledge.

Ideas and principles are directed toward the guidance of the individual. The evidences of learning indicate the quality of the students and teachers of Liberty High School.

Leadership responsibilities assume an important part in the development of the student. This link enhances the prospects for a better tomorrow.

Competition arouses vigorous rivalry and increases student morale. Pride in team effort is more important than actual victory or defeat.

Participation is the fifth and final link in the chain. Active, well-motivated students in the pursuit of learning will create an atmosphere of friendliness and cooperation. They will in the process acquire and display school spirit. Since the school exists for the students, so it is that their activities will be reflected in every aspect of school life.

Thus the chain, burnished by loyalty and tempered by service, will perpetuate the tradition of Liberty.

SENIORS WILL LEAVE BEFORE THE UNDERCLASSMEN . . . Joey Laughon carries out one of his numerous duties as SCA president by conducting an assembly.

BUT ALL WE SEE IS YOUR PENCIL . . . Mr. Peters explains a slide projected by the bioscope to Gary Mitchell and Cathy Overstreet.

HALLOWEEN IS FOR KIDS . . . Charlotte Quarles and Wanda Phillips complete the bulletin board for Mrs. Mishoe's business classroom.

Liberty High School began a new term with a larger faculty and administrative staff. Plans had been made to adequately meet the needs of the student. Some of the teachers were spring graduates. Others had attended summer school working for Masters' degrees or toward strengthening their teaching areas.

Teachers challenged the interests of the student by the assignment of research projects and papers. The value of these experiences was the reward of accomplishment plus satisfied curiosities and increased knowledge.

Encouraged by the teachers, the students submitted numerous papers in the fields of science and creative writing. This type of composition necessitated particular attention to the finest forms of writing and required effort on the part of the student.

Extra-curricular activities claimed much time of students, and faculty members were generous with donated time when called upon to assist in these undertakings.

RED + YELLOW YIELDS ORANGE? . . . Frank Thomasson, Martha Yowell, Sandra Brown, and Carla Zimmerman perform an experiment in chemistry class.

Through the Realization of Learning

Learning may be called the acquisition of knowledge and skills whereby a student prepares to meet the future. Liberty High School offered learning in a choice of three curricula—vocational, general, and academic. In the junior high, courses are prescribed; later the student with the help of the guidance counselor is allowed to add to his basic subjects certain electives according to his interests.

A full program of testing included aptitude and achievement tests which indicated abilities of the students. Freshmen and juniors took the state adopted STEP and SCAT. As a prerequisite to college entrance, the Scholastic Aptitude Tests were administered. Students of exceptional ability took the National Merit Scholarship test, and those who scored high were later recognized by the Foundation.

To supplement textbooks and to increase understanding on the part of the students, there were library reference works and books in ever-increasing numbers, films, tapes, recordings, maps, and bulletin boards. The foreign language lab provided the students a means of practicing and correcting pronunciation. Most departments at sometime during the year invited outside speakers from many vocations, who added information to the topics under study.

The honor roll which was published each six-weeks period in the local newspaper stimulated a desire for better grades. Students with a high B average were invited to join the honor societies at LHS. The most sought-after honor was that achieved by the ten top students in the Senior Class selected from their scholastic achievements throughout high school. These students presented the speeches on the chosen graduation theme at commencement.

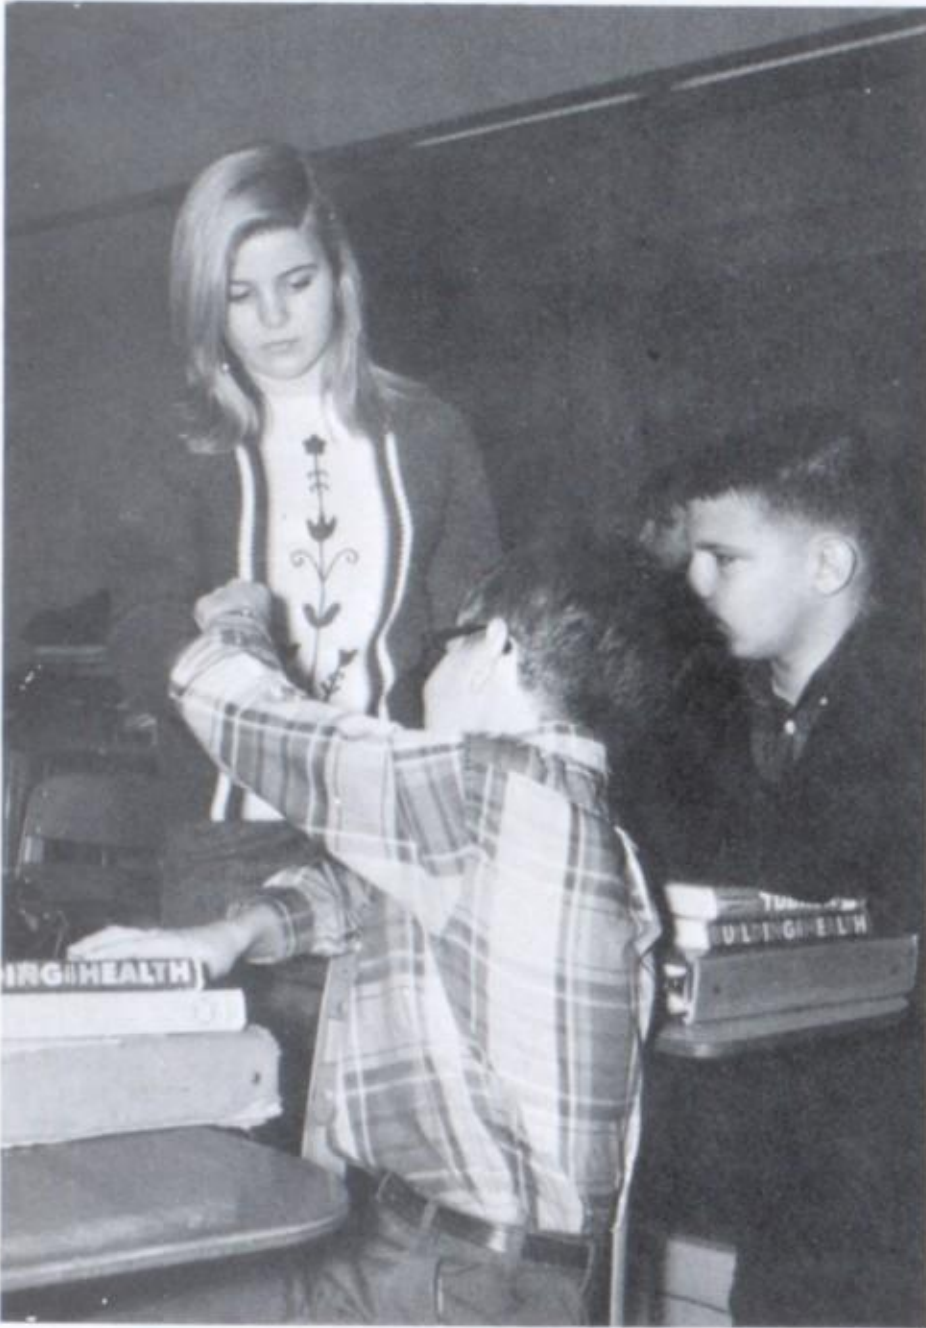

LIFT THAT BALE; TOTE THAT BARGE . . . Alton Gregory and Morris Hall, Distributive Education students, receive on the job training through their work at a local supermarket.

WHAT HAPPENED IN 1776? . . . Betty Orange, Dana Newman, Connie Lowe, Wanda Long, and Joan Pugh concentrate on an American history test.

By taking part in club activities, students gained valuable experiences of leadership in the school and community. A qualified staff of club sponsors and officers directed members in accepting responsibility and developing worthy character. Appointed committees and elected chairmen distributed the duties of club work equally among the members.

The SCA Council allowed students to have a voice in school affairs through their representation from classes, clubs, and homerooms.

Band and chorus members utilized their talents for LHS by entering strictly judged contests and rating high in the competition.

Students with high academic standings were received into honor organizations which maintained basic scholastic requirements.

Fellowship, service, and toil, perfect the construction of the leadership link and bond it to the chain.

Leadership in Every Individual

WELCOME TO THE BETA CLUB . . . John McGehee, president; and Linda Noell, secretary present the credentials to Vicki Witt, a newly-tapped member.

VOTE FOR THE CANDIDATE OF YOUR CHOICE . . . Allen Wills checks the voting registration form for Lynne Scott while Mike Orr marks his ballot in the S.C.A. election.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS . . . Liberty students take advantage of a spring day by relaxing on the lawn during their lunch break.

Victories and Defeats Are Keenly

The purchasing of new equipment and facilities expanded the athletic department of LHS. This expansion helped to increase the potential and skill of the teams by permitting more students to participate in sports activity.

Spirited competition sparked the beginning of vigorous rivalries, which encouraged more forceful efforts on the part of team members. The desire to win urged the individuals to exert their abilities for the benefit of the teams.

The coaches worked to build endurance among the athletes throughout each training session. Long hours of practice resulted in winning seasons.

The cheerleaders aroused school spirit and boosted the morale of the teams. Although loyal fans showed their noisy appreciation of the teams' endeavors, they abided by the rules of good sportsmanship.

In competition rests the glory of victory and the disappointment of defeat which unite to form an unbreakable link.

YOU'RE OUT! . . . Hoping to retain Liberty's title of Blue Ridge District champions, Roger Orange and Howie Fine drill in sliding techniques.

Felt in Lively Competition

CHARGE! . . . Elizabeth Berry and Jane Ferguson brace the Homecoming hoop for Mike Coleman, starting quarterback, to plunge through.

SINK IT, JACKIE, SINK IT . . . Guarded by two Lord Botetourt players, Jackie Harris takes aim and shoots to raise the score another two points.

ALLEY—OOPS . . . Richard Latimer completes a well-executed high jump in preparation for a successful track season.

Student Participation Encircles

OH NO, ANOTHER RUN! . . . Freddie Owens, Thomas Cobb, Connie Brown, and Parkie Long model the latest fashions for the Talent Show.

The chain cannot be complete without the link of participation. The students' application of eagerness and energy in school activities fostered a growing sense of unity among the student body.

Representatives from LHS participated in many public functions. Members from each class made up the courts that were selected during the fall and winter seasons. Matharama and Science Fair projects displayed the results of much research and work on the part of the participants. The senior members of both cheerleading squads presented two cheers in the Heironimus Cheer Rally held at Roanoke Catholic High School. Liberty students were guests on two television shows, "Klassroom Kwiz" and "Saturday Session," which are designed to give young people a chance to exhibit their accomplishments and abilities.

Students, recognized for their outstanding scholastic achievements, received awards for academic merit and citizenship. Delegates were selected to attend SIPA, Model General Assembly, Boys' and Girls' State, All-State Chorus, and All-State Band.

The Senior Play and the Junior-Senior Prom contributed to the social life of LHS. Baccalaureate and graduation prompted students to review their past three years at Liberty High School.

DO, RE, MI . . . In preparation for the Christmas Concert, the Liberty High School chorus practices selections it will sing.

IT WON'T HURT A BIT . . . Beverly Snyder prepares to give blood during the bloodmobile visit sponsored by the S.C.A.

Every Phase of School Life

QUIET AS A MOUSE ... Carolyn Creasy, Robert Arney, and Laurie Dunford look up information for research papers; while Sue Craig, Mary Tomlinson, William McDaniel, Robert Ashwell, and Mike Orr study the biographies of authors assigned to them by their English teachers.

THERE'S A FINGERPRINT YOU MISSED ... Sue Johnson and Don Higgins show their expressions of pride as they polish the trophy won by Liberty students in the WPXI school point parade.

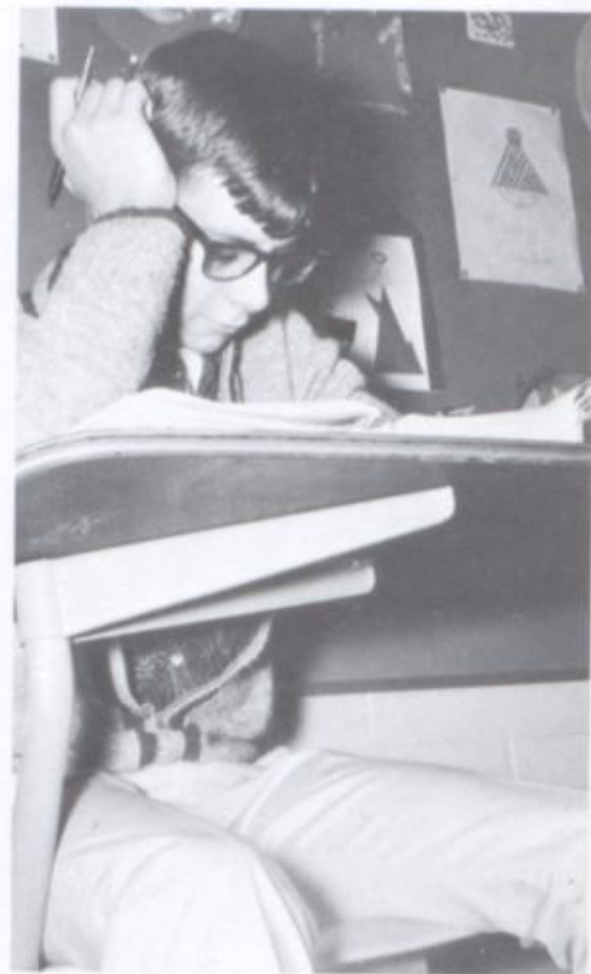

THIRTY CENTS, PLEASE ... Tera Yoder collects Brownie Reynold's lunch money, as other students wait in line.

This Lasting Chain Will Continue

ALL FOR LIBERTY, STAND UP AND HOLLER ... Liberty students respond enthusiastically to the Homecoming pep rally.

DEAR SANTA ... Chuck Clement tries to concentrate on his assignment, but daydreams about the upcoming Christmas holidays seem to occupy his thoughts.

WALK, DON'T RUN ... Junior High students make a mad dash for the school buses after the 3:07 dismissal bell in anticipation of an eventful weekend.

The Tradition of Liberty High

"SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS" ... Sam Hardy and J. P. Lawhorn carry out their daily duty of lowering the flag at the close of another day.

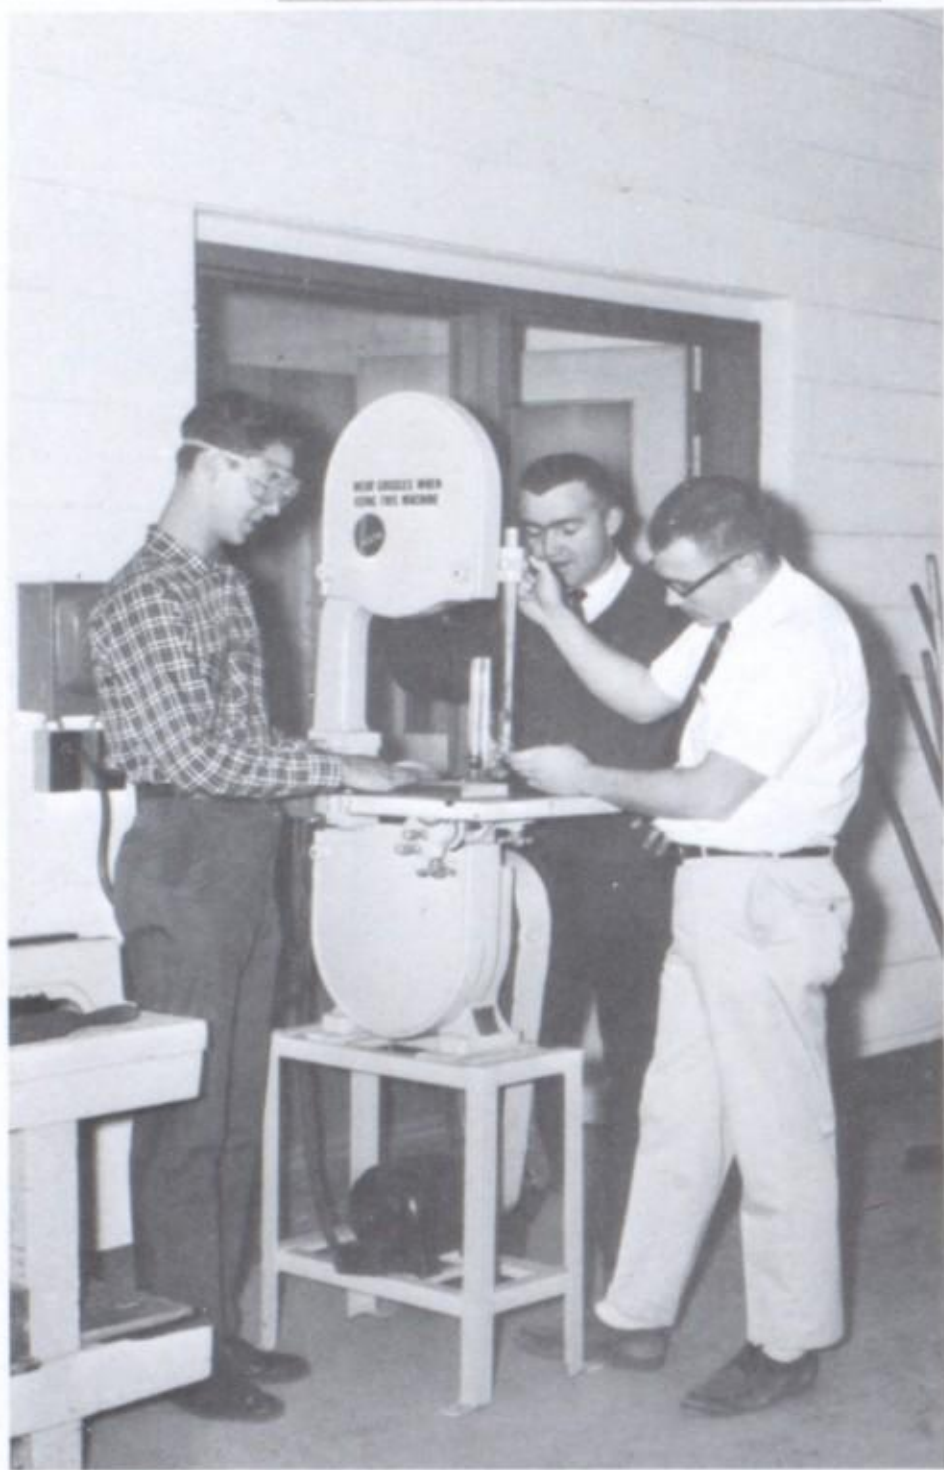

The tradition of Liberty High School is a composite of many elements. It implies the unity and harmony among the students, faculty, and the administration. It includes the caliber of the teachers and the students' willingness to learn. It involves the high standard of academic work and the scope of extra-curricula activities. It spurs the individual to strive for excellence in all areas of school life.

The chain symbolizes the organization of LHS. The links of the chain were forged when the school was founded, and they have been strengthened during its three years of operation. The utilization of the chain has been the great factor in establishing the tradition. By its continued use, the tradition which is Liberty High School will endure through everchanging conditions.

No force will be able to break the chain which has been proved by service. Its links will remain securely interlocked; and they will insure the preservation of the tradition of LHS.

THIS IS "POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE"? ... Janet Fitzgerald, Glen Smith, Alice Divers, and Naomi Wood check the cap and gown sizes before placing their orders.

WISDOM

The school program established by the faculty and administrative staff progressed to the point of achieving accreditation status. Standards set in each department and supported by qualified teachers promoted ideals which will be cherished in future years at L.H.S.

The central body on which the faculty, staff, and student body relied during the year was the administration.

The Bedford County School Board and Mr. Forrest Frazier, Superintendent of Schools, determined the policies for the entire county school system.

Mr. Lee, principal; Mr. Sherman and Mr. Caldwell, the assistant principals; carried out these policies at Liberty High School.

Due to an increase in enrollment, Mr. Otis Caldwell was added to the faculty as the second assistant principal. His experience in teaching at Honaker, Virginia, enabled him to give valuable assistance to the students.

Each administrator did his share to coordinate the student activities at LHS.

Through the guidance of the counselors, each student received encouragement to reach his full potential.

Miss Magann administered the Scholastic Aptitude Test to the seniors, the National Merit Tests to the juniors, and the N.E.D.T. tests to the sophomores.

With the help of Mrs. Sherman, the eighth and ninth graders laid the foundation for their basic high school studies through careful curriculum planning.

Mr. Oglesby advised college-bound seniors on scholarships and helped with admission plans. The writing of the recommendations to colleges was part of his daily work.

College and Career Day afforded senior high students the chance to talk with representatives from sixty-odd colleges and trade groups about opportunities available after graduation.

Languages Stimulate Interest in Cultures

Learning a foreign language concerns not only the grammar and speaking of the language, but also involves the history, people, and customs of their native land.

The foreign language department encouraged interests in French, Latin, and Spanish through extensive use of the language lab.

The French students broadened their study of France and its people by attending the L' Alliance meetings in Lynchburg, by viewing movies, and by talking to visitors in the class who had French backgrounds. The more advanced students used conversational French during many of their sessions.

While concentrating on the translation of Caesar, Cicero, and Vergil, the Latin students accumulated a storehouse of knowledge concerning the history of ancient Rome. The Virginia Latin Essay Contest and the Latin Tournament held at Randolph-Macon Woman's College gave students the opportunity to match skills with other Latin scholars throughout the state of Virginia.

The study of near-by Mexico gave the Spanish students an insight into Spanish traditions. Drills in grammar and Spanish conversation increased the students' ability to comprehend and master the language.

ENGLISH

To provide the opportunity for each student to master the basic skills of the language arts and to challenge inquiring minds to take advantage of elective advanced courses, is the aim of the English department. This year remedial help was available for those students who needed strengthening in certain areas.

It has been the pleasure of the teachers to choose countless teaching aids for the department. Dozens of new books suitable to individual reading tastes were placed on the library shelves.

The traditional study of literature on each grade level was enlivened by films and recordings. Bulletin board displays of students' work and supplementary information added variety to sometimes dull discussions.

The student preparing for a college major in English, or the one wanting to improve his expression for practical everyday living found a proper environment in the advanced grammar, public speaking, and creative writing classes. Journalism offered actual writing experiences as well as helping to develop an appreciation for the power of the "printed page."

Essay contests offered by outside organizations throughout the year afforded exercise of acquired writing skills as well as stimulating competition in the county high school. A member of last year's junior class, Tera Yoder, wrote the winning essay sponsored by the United Daughters of the Confederacy; another junior, Gary Raflo, won in the script writing contest offered by the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The first Russian Sputnik — among other things — gave our country an incentive to produce more and better mathematicians. Intensive research and development have resulted in what is called the "new math." Those minds which can grasp its simplified principles term it easier for students to learn and for instructors to teach. This year at Liberty, continued emphasis has been placed upon the modern approach to math.

Unified geometry was the news of the year. In order to provide better opportunities in the academic curriculum, plane and solid geometry were combined and taught as a one-year course. Solid geometry-trigonometry, and advanced algebra were made available to those seniors preparing for college. Mathematics 8, Mathematics 9, and applied mathematics were courses offered for students in the general curriculum. Approximately eighty per cent of the student body took some course in mathematics.

The second Matharama featured as a PTA program in November gave the students an opportunity to display an expansive knowledge of mathematics. Members of the department explained to parents and other visitors the projects on exhibit.

An Understanding of Government

Social Studies is essential in that it furnishes an insight into governmental workings and instills a pride in the national heritage. It offers an inspiration for the furthering of the knowledge and understanding of past and present civilizations.

The eighth grade students learned the basic history of the United States from its roots in England to modern day. They kept a table containing replicas of historical items which added a realistic atmosphere to the classes.

The world history classes traced the story of man's attempt, from the Stone Age to the Space Age, to adjust himself to three environments: the physical, the social, and spiritual. Through the use of tapes, additional textbooks, and reports, the students studied the development of the aesthetic art, economic, intellectual, political, religious, and social aspects of each civilization.

American history students concentrated on the beginning, development, and emergence of a great nation, with emphasis placed on the Constitutional development of America. Through this study, the student realized how and why America achieved its position in world affairs.

Students who desired a better understanding of political affairs for civic and cultural reasons, gained this knowledge in government classes. They learned the significance of our governmental agencies in today's society by studying their development and organizational structure.

Through these courses the students received a background to assist them in better understanding, comparing, and evaluating the future of mankind.

Experiments Develop Laboratory Techniques

Scientific knowledge and its application is one of the deciding factors in the progress of the world. The Science Department endeavors to teach the students the theories and applications of pure and applied science.

The eighth grade science classes learned the basic principles of science, and how they work. Through actual experiments, the general science students acquired an understanding of laboratory techniques. These procedures were further developed by the biology, chemistry, and physics classes in an effort to prove or disprove known facts in their natural surroundings.

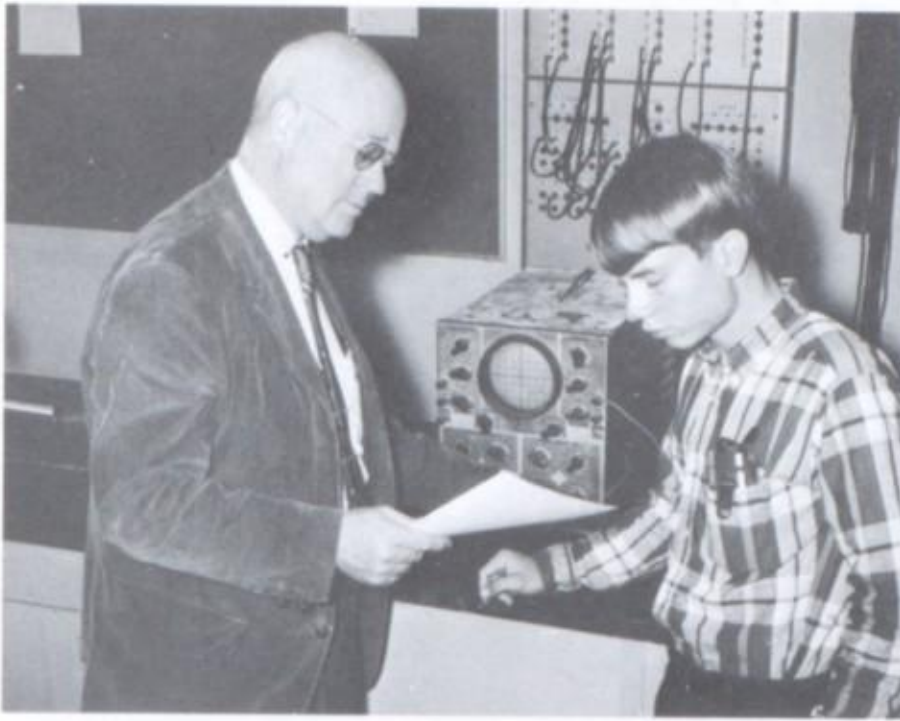

For the second consecutive year, a Visiting Scientist Program was held at Liberty. Edward Dewall, nuclear chemist for Babcock-Wilcox, Inc., in Lynchburg, addressed two assemblies and visited all eight science classrooms.

The Virginia Academy of Science and the National Science Foundation arranged these programs for seventy high schools in Virginia. Liberty was one of only a few to get this program two years in a row.

Many students exhibited projects in the Bedford County Science Fair and the Regional Science Fair held at Salem. Some presented papers to the Virginia Junior Academy of Science and entered the future Scientists of America contest.

The science teachers encouraged participation in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search, Junior Science and Humanities Symposium, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration regional science congresses.

FINE ARTS

The departments of music and art combined efforts to give students a greater knowledge and appreciation of fine arts.

The students enrolled in band classes, chorus, and music appreciation. The chorus participated in the Music Festival in Blacksburg and presented a program at the Elks National Home. The band members took part in the Harvest Bowl in Roanoke and Band Day in Charlottesville. The two groups worked together to present a Christmas Concert on December 18 in an attempt to raise money for robes and uniforms.

The class in music appreciation studied the history of music and some of the world's greatest composers.

The first year art classes began their year's program with a study of color and design. The more advanced students displayed art projects in the junior and senior high buildings. Drawings in India ink and plaster sculptures enhanced the office and library.

The addition of new books increased the availability of research material in the library. In conjunction with the State Library Association, the librarian reviewed books to be placed on the state reading list.

Student assistants helped in stacking books, cataloguing cards, and other details entailed in library work.

Since skilled office workers are in high demand, the business department offered subjects which would prepare students for good positions in the business world.

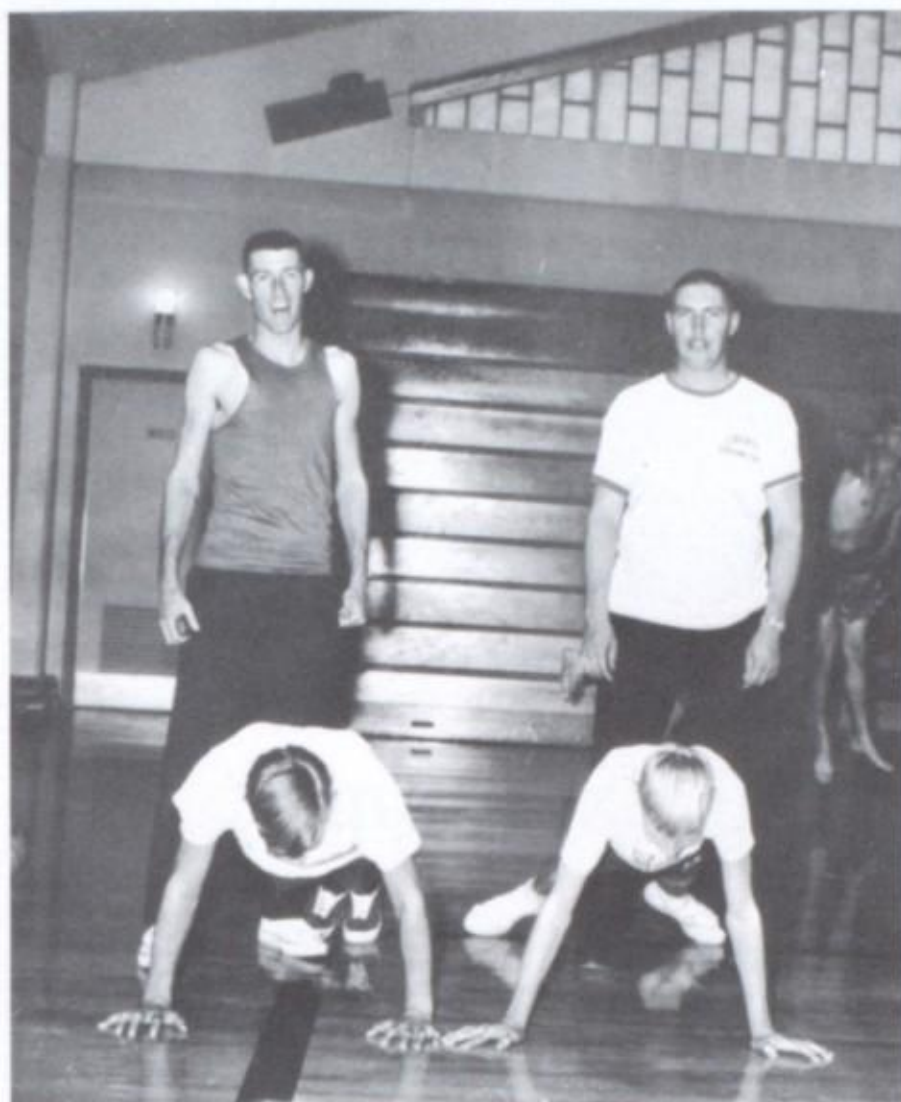

In Typewriting I, students learned the basic fundamentals of typewriting along with the correct techniques to use. Typewriting II was a continuation of first year on a more advanced level. An increase in speed and accuracy in typing jobs assigned produced efficient, well-trained students.

Shorthand I students learned theory and practiced taking dictation. Shorthand II concentrated on dictation and transcription.

Bookkeeping students learned to keep neat, accurate records of transactions through the use of practice sets. General business classes provided an introduction to business.

Clerical office practice gave students an increased knowledge of office procedures.

In order to provide fun and recreation as well as exercise, the physical education department held classes designed to improve the health and physical condition of each student.

The classes were a combination of instructional studies and sessions in the gymnasium. In the classroom, the teachers covered subjects related to the health and the general welfare of the student. Such topics as the systems of the body, highway safety, and narcotics were studied.

Class sessions in the gymnasium consisted of calisthenics, gymnastics, and participation in organized games. All of these activities helped to instill attributes of good sportsmanship and to build a solid foundation of interest in athletics among the students.

The Vocational Department gave students an opportunity to develop valuable vocational skills.

Study of different phases of home economics taught girls the importance of experience in home life. Future homemakers received instruction in home management, wardrobe and budget planning, nutrition, and child care.

Mechanical drawing classes and a study in electronics gave the students a chance to make actual models from their designs.

Through lectures, discussions, and demonstrations, the agriculture classes studied new farming methods, livestock, and soil conservation.

All of these vocational courses provided a practical application of the students' abilities.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTORS

Success in high school and in life depends on the ability to read, comprehend, and express ideas. In an attempt to eliminate weaknesses of the student, the faculty added two remedial teachers, Miss Bibb and Mrs. Garrett. Miss Bibb helped the students improve their reading abilities and boosted their self-confidence. Mrs. Garrett worked with individuals to develop skill in math and science.

Other additions to the faculty were Mrs. Quarles and Mrs. Tsoleas as study hall supervisors. Their duties were to maintain orderly study periods and to assist the teachers by allowing them to have a free period for preparation and consultation.

Reliable Staff Functions Effectively

A very important, but often forgotten facet of our school was the busy staff. Our two competent secretaries, Mrs. Nichols and Miss Spradlin, had numerous duties, such as answering the telephone, sorting mail, and answering the many questions of people who came into the office each day. Mrs. Nichols, secretary to the principal, took care of Mr. Lee's correspondence, filed records, kept the books, and filled out reports.

Mrs. Wilson, manager of the cafeteria, planned nutritious meals for the student body. The cafeteria workers also prepared numerous banquets and meals for other functions.

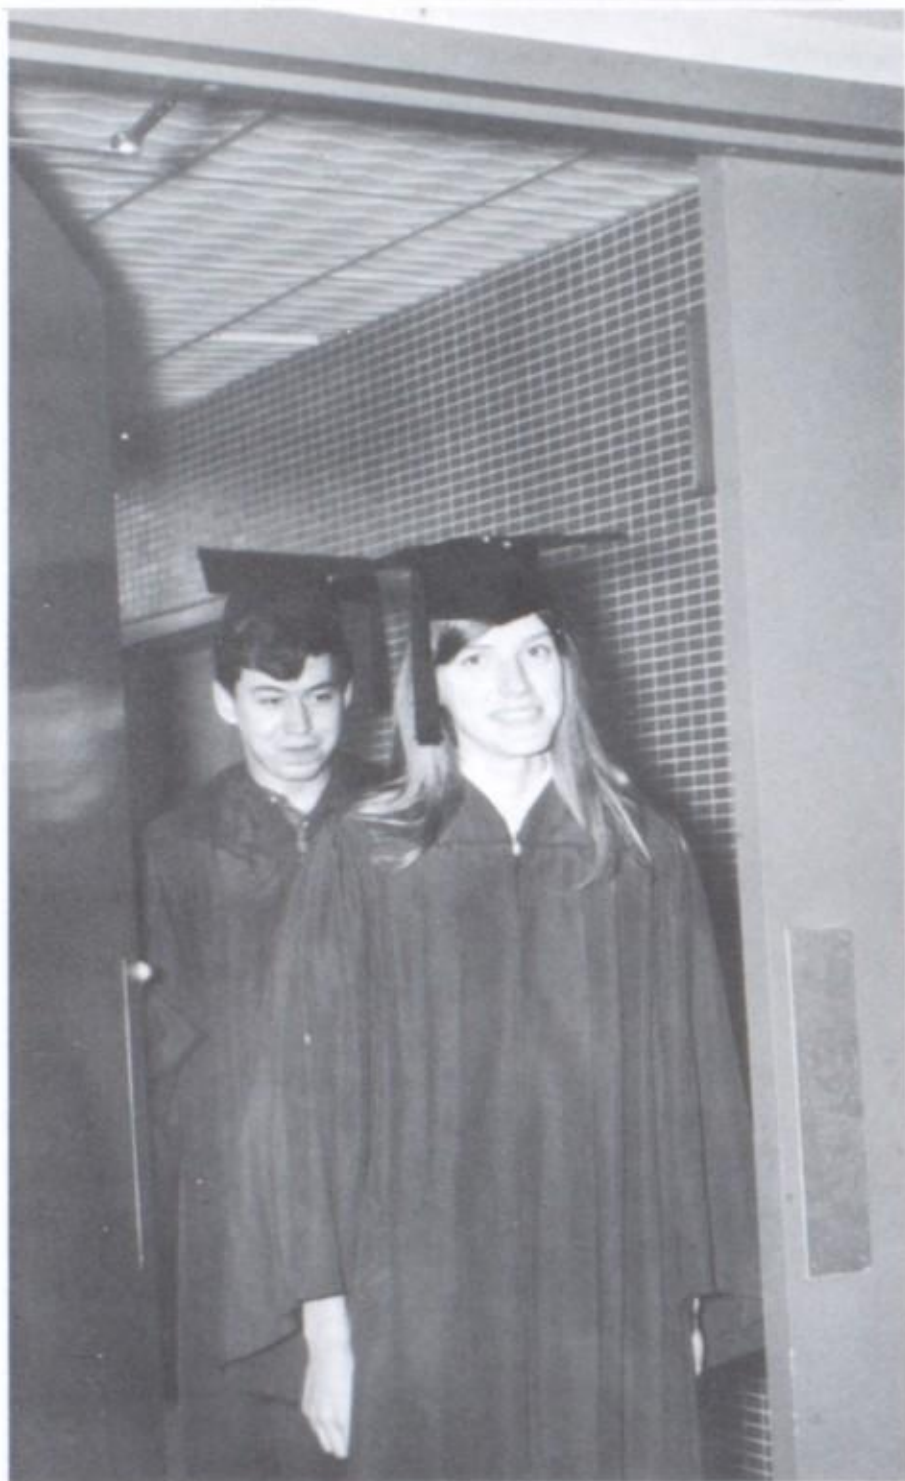

The custodians spent their time keeping the buildings and grounds clean. Because of the many activities after school, their time was divided into two shifts.

HELLO, INFORMATION PLEASE . . . Mrs. Nichols finishes her day's typing while Miss Spradlin makes a last minute telephone call.

LEARNING

Liberty High's student body, exemplifying the qualities of enthusiasm, cooperativeness, and sincerity, created an atmosphere conducive to learning. In this setting, students pursued the courses which they had chosen to provide for them a realization of their goals in life.

THE SENIOR CLASS

urer; Carolyn Creasey, secretary; and Curtis Vaughn, reporter.

As the seniors brought to an end their high school career, they recalled with joy and sorrow their past three years at Liberty High School. This was a special time between childhood and adulthood in which students developed their own physical, intellectual, social, and spiritual worlds.

The year hastened by in a variety of activities. Seniors participated in SCA work, assisted with school publications, competed in varsity sports, and took part in club activities. Tradition was upheld with the annual Senior Play, class picnic, class night, and the Junior-Senior Prom.

Thoughts were focused on the future as "The Class" took College Boards, sought admission to colleges, applied for scholarships, and surveyed job opportunities.

As graduation arrived and the long-awaited dream was fulfilled, the seniors departed on their separate ways, each leaving a part of himself behind and each taking with him memories of his life at Liberty High.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

Encouraged by the achievements of its previous years at Liberty, the junior class was determined to make this year the most outstanding. Paul White, serving as class president, led the juniors through their projects.

The year began with the Junior Dance staged as a Beatnik Ball. Proceeds were used for the Junior-Senior Prom held in May.

The selection of class rings was a difficult task because of the various styles and stones offered to the students.

In the spring, juniors took Scholastic Aptitude Tests, National Merit Scholarship Tests, and probed through college catalogues. All of these activities brought the students a step closer to their final year at LHS.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

Kathy Obenchain, reporter; and Lou Clark, secretary.

The sophomores elected Gary Mitchell to direct their class, as they advanced into the senior high building this year. Understanding that more would be expected of them, the Class of '69 set higher goals for themselves and strived to fulfill them.

Signs of strong leadership qualities were revealed in the tenth-grade class members. Cindy Nester held the office of secretary on the SCA Council and Nan Darden was reporter. Carolyn Long served as president of the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y and Linda Rockecharlie led the Dramatics Club.

The sophomores took another step forward in athletic activities. Tenth-grade boys earned positions on varsity teams while nine sophomore girls were chosen to be varsity cheerleaders.

Among sophomore class activities was the traditional "decoration contest" of homerooms during the Christmas season.

Now, three-year veterans of Liberty High School, the sophomores are realizing the pleasures and the hardships that come with being upperclassmen.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS . . . Dorothy Napier, secretary-treasurer; Vickie Carson, reporter; Marcella Schools, vice-president; and Sue Craghead, president.

With an air of assurance and enthusiasm, the Class of '70 began their year as freshmen at LHS. Being in the 9th grade brought more opportunities and privileges. These students took advantage of all that was offered, by participating in student leadership, clubs, and sports.

The freshman class, led by President Sue Crag-head, was able, for the first time, to join in regular club activities. Positions on junior varsity teams and cheerleading squads were made available this year, to 9th graders.

As the freshmen advanced another step up the ladder of education, they become better prepared to assume their role as senior high students.

THE EIGHTH GRADE

MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTH GRADE COUNCIL . . .
Johnny Turner, Paul Day, Jackie Richards, Cecilia Tanner,

Diana Clement, Mike Rucker, and Ricky Deal.

From different parts of the county and various schools, came the fresh and eager students who comprised the eighth grade.

This year the "Class of '71" began a new program which advanced eighth grade student government. Five officers were elected from each home-room to serve on an executive council.

Special athletic teams were opened to eighth grade boys. The members of these teams became acquainted with the rules and the procedures of high school sports.

These newcomers brought with them part of their past environment, old friends and old ideas. However, after a few months of competent leadership and capable guidance, the eighth grade students united to become an integral part of life at LHS.

LEADERSHIP

Membership in clubs and organizations contributed to the development of leadership among the students. The effects of this participation were evident in the constructive service which the students gave to the school.

SCA Cultivates Spirit of Cooperation

SCA COUNCIL MEMBERS ... First Row: E. Holdren, T. Yoder, J. Overstreet, C. Gregory, D. Jones, C. Long, S. Craig, E. Dooley, K. Craig, D. Napier, M. Stevens, N. Massie, Mr. Oglesby, sponsor. Second Row: J. Harris, M. Tomlinson, P. Clayton, K. Thomasson, M. Overstreet, J. Kendrick, D. Hylton, V. Carter, L. Sands, B. Craghead, M. Schools, D. Martin, M. Darden. Third Row: C. Smith, N. The SCA is the united "student body voice" to the administration and the faculty. It strives to achieve a closer knit student body and to strengthen the ties between students, faculty, and administration.

During the 1966-67 session, the SCA undertook projects in three major areas—school spirit, school improvement, and civic service.

The club aided in initiating a student Pep Club. It promoted the "Pixie Point Parade" contest, sponsored by the Roanoke radio station, WPXI. Liberty tied with Lord Botetourt for first place and Mr. Lee accepted the trophy on behalf of the students at one of the assembly programs.

The governing body improved school life in several ways. It installed a student store to furnish the students with school supplies. The bulletin board schedule, set up by the Council, gave each club an opportunity to present its activities to the students and to make the halls more attractive.

"IT WAS AN EXTRA-A-A-ORDINARY EXPERIENCE" ... Cannon Bryan Green from England visits Liberty on his tour of American schools.

Through Student Body Projects

DO THE JERK ... Everyone enjoys a hop after a home football game sponsored by the SCA.

The Student Council sponsored the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile and helped recruit donors. The SCA contributed to the local Christmas Basket Program in December.

The Student Cooperative Association had a busy schedule in fulfilling its responsibilities to the school and to the student body. It carried out its obligations such as business sessions, workshops, and conventions; and its activities were a true asset to Liberty.

Beta Club Sets High Standards for Liberty,

A. Burch, L. Key, S. Branch, P. McDowell, J. Ferguson, F. Ruff, B. Mitchell, C. Vaughn, B. Paxton. Fourth Row: P. Arrington, W. Woodford, V. Gilmer, M. Bell, A. Divers, S. Hardy, G. Raflo, J. Laughon.

To promote honesty, service, achievement, and leadership is the aim of the Beta Club, Liberty's national honor society.

At an assembly program on October 28, the old Beta members presented a skit depicting a national convention.

The tapping of the eligible juniors and seniors, who had a grade average of ninety or above and had shown qualities of good character and leadership, followed the skit.

Three members chosen from the Beta Club, accompanied by Mrs. Catherine Gordon, sponsor, comprised the panel from Liberty on "Klassroom Kwiz" November 7. Those who participated were Jane Overstreet, Gary Raflo, and John McGehee.

During the football season members of the club sold refreshments at the concession stand. The money earned aided the Beta Club in its service projects.

LET ME BE THE FIRST TO SHAKE YOUR HAND ... President John McGehee clasps hands with a new Beta Club member, George Forsyth, as the other members look on.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN ... Beta members Jane Overstreet, Mary E. Tomlinson, Bruce Mitchell, Linda Noell, Ronnie Overstreet, and Jane Dudek sing the club song before the new members are tapped.

Sends Ten Delegates to State Convention

WHO TURNED OUT THE LIGHTS? ... Mary Reynolds, Cecelia Richards, Connie Lowe, William McDaniel, and Faye Miller are being inducted into the Beta Club.

THE KEY TO FORT KNOX ... John McGehee and Sally Williamson take part in a skit during the Beta Club's candlelight service.

The Beta Club published the LHS handbook and also awarded pins to fourth year Latin students who had maintained a B average.

Ten delegates, chosen by the club, represented our school at the State Beta Club convention in Richmond on March 17 and 18.

At a special called meeting on December 5, the new members were inducted into the honorary organization.

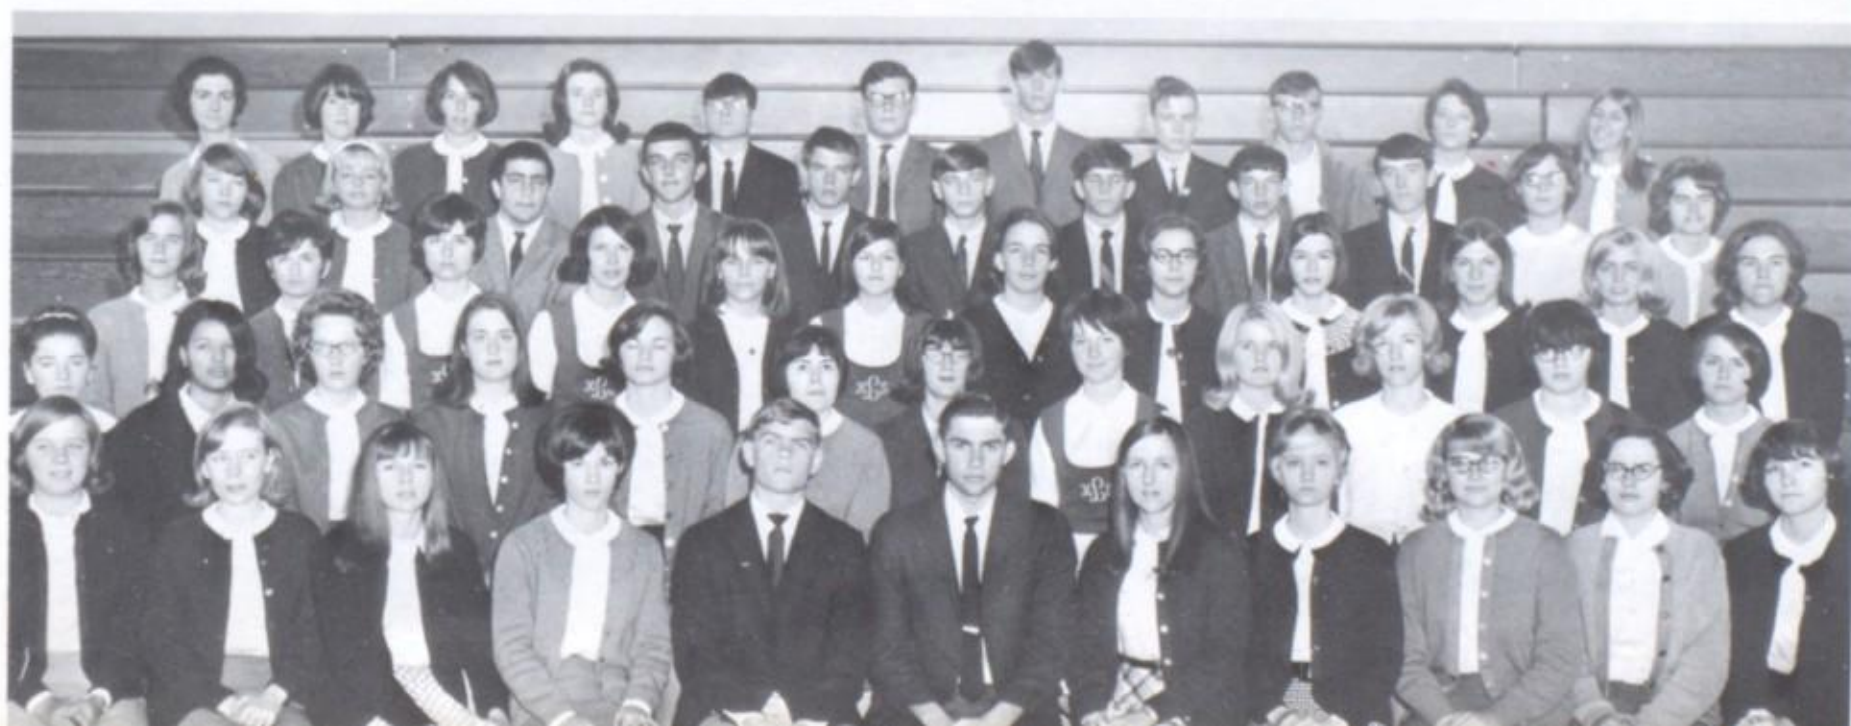

Sally Williamson, Joey Laughon, Gary Raflo, Mary Lou Bell, and John McGehee inacted a key induction service in which the standards of the Beta Club were stated to the new members. The speaker for the candlelight service was the Rev. Maurice Grisson of the First Baptist Church of Lynchburg.

TAKE A MEMO ... Mary E. Tomlinson, treasurer; Sally Williamson, reporter; John McGehee, president; Tera Yoder, vice-president; and Linda Noell, secretary write a letter asking for tickets to the Beta Convention.

NEW BETA MEMBERS ... First Row: J. Stanley, M. Key, A. Witt, V. Witt, J. Harris, J. Witt, C. Snyder, T. Gray, N. Thomas, B. Agee, C. Davis. Second Row: C. Lowe, S. Brown, J. Dooley, D. Jones, W. YOU MUST BE JOKING! . . . Dinx Jones, vice-president; Julie Stanley, treasurer; Dianne Hylton, secretary; Mary Wingfield, president; Amber Burch, historian; and Diane Tomlin, chaplain discuss their bulletin board.

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y started its program of service by sending its officers Mary Wingfield, Diane Tomlin, and Dianne Hylton to the District Y.M.C.A. Workshop at Altavista High School on September 20. Each attended a discussion group pertaining to the duties of his individual office in the club.

The bulletin board committee headed by Becky Craghead, publicized National Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Week with a display in front of the Senior and Junior High buildings. Another committee distributed inserts to be placed in church bulletins of various churches in Bedford County. These inserts explained the purposes and activities of the club.

Franklin County High School played host to the Y.M.C.A. District Conference on November 5. Mary Wingfield, Dianne Hylton, Virginia Gilmer, Carol Bolling, and Margaret Johnston traveled to Rocky Mount to attend this meeting.

The induction of new members took place in December in a candlelight ceremony.

The members assisted in the Heart Fund Drive and other community activities in the attempt to uphold the club's purpose of "creating, maintaining, and the extending of high standards of Christian character throughout the home, school, and community."

SENIOR TRI-HI-Y MEMBERS . . . First Row: D. Hogan, M. Key, J. Leftwich, D. Carden, K. Robertson, E. Callaham, C. Smith, S. Johnson. Second Row: B. Russell, B. Craghead, L. Humphreys, B. Daniels, W. Moore, V. Johnson, J.

DON'T JUST DO SOMETHING, STAND THERE . . . Larry Whorley, chaplain; Dave Shackelford, treasurer; Bob Graves, chaplain; Allen Wills, president; Tim Childress, vice-president; and Raymond Caldwell, sponsor conduct a meeting.

In order to obtain their goal of growing in the knowledge and love of God, the Senior Hi-Y committed many hours of service to the community.

The club's first project of the year proved to be successful as the Senior Hi-Y float won first place in Liberty's mock Homecoming parade. On November 5, David Shackelford, Frank Ruff, Allen Wills, and Eugene Waldron attended the District Conference at Franklin County High School. Later in the month, club members filled a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family.

The Senior Hi-Y viewed films on the work of the Y.M.C.A. around the world and on sportsmanship in various phases of life. Programs were also given on music appreciation.

In the spring, the club sent a representative to MGA in Richmond.

HOW DID LAWRENCE WELK GET IN HERE? . . . Ronnie Overstreet, Charles Strode, Eugene Waldron, and Don Higgins prepare entertainment during an active club session.

Junior Tri-Hi-Y Plans Christmas Assembly

HUP, TWO, THREE, FOUR . . . Janice Cundiff, Gwen Duval, and Martha Stevens troop faithfully to a monthly meeting.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y, composed of ninth and tenth grade girls, was affiliated with the area office in Lynchburg. This affiliation allowed members to take part in district affairs.

On September 20, Carolyn Long, president; Miss Virginia Ruff, sponsor; Marietta Binger; Brenda Latimer; and Brenda Sanderson attended the Y.M.C.A. District Workshop at Altavista for officer training. Miss Mary Green, sponsor, accompanied several members to Franklin County High School for the District Y.M.C.A. Conference on November 5.

The club had joint meetings with the Senior Tri-Hi-Y to hear speakers from the surrounding areas. They included the Reverend James T. Campbell of Big Island and the Reverend John H. Sivly of Bedford.

The students planned the Christmas assembly held before the holiday vacation.

SUMMER MATINEE AT LIBERTY . . . Mr. Carpenter, Joe Lisa, and Robert Blankenship relax during the film, "Are You a Good Citizen?"

The Junior Hi-Y, directed by Mr. William Carpenter, Jr., was composed of freshman and sophomore boys. The club selected several projects to be carried out during the school year.

Delegates from the club traveled to the District Y.M.C.A. Conference at Franklin County High School in November. To add more meaning to the Thanksgiving season, a committee placed a display in the library for the students to enjoy.

In January, the members sponsored a New Year's Eve party with a rock-and-roll dance combo. At the March meeting, a panel chosen from the club held a debate with some students from William Byrd High School in Vinton.

Throughout the year, such films as "Are You a Good Citizen?"; "Cleanliness and Health"; "Adolescent Development"; and "The Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency" were shown at some of the meetings.

The club held a dance in the spring to raise money for a medal to be given to the outstanding basketball player at the Awards Assembly.

The year's program concluded with a hike up the Peaks of Otter in May.

JUNIOR HI-Y MEMBERS. . . . First Row: J. Goff, J. Jenrette, N. Bramlett, B. Burks, G. Saunders, N. Thompson, R. Fellers, Mr. Carpenter, sponsor, R. Obenchain, P. Garrett. Second Row: C. Johnson, K. Campbell, M. Overstreet, M. King, T. Johnson, J. D'Alexander, H. Padgett, G. Mackey, E. Holdren.

Third Row: D. Frazier, P. Newman, D. Johnson, B. Craig, C. Watson, E. Bolling, B. Cocke, H. Thompson, C. Grove. Fourth Row: R. Bolling, B. Overstreet, B. Reid, C. Pinion, B. Powers, C. Clement, D. Scott, O. Anderson, W. Strawn.

Heritage Staff Portrays School Life

SECTION EDITORS ... Sitting: T. Yoder, clubs; E. Berry, sports; C. Zimmerman, theme; L. Noell, faculty-assistant editor; M. Tomlinson, proofreader; C. Quarles, clubs; P. Wilson, index-assistant editor; D. Hylton, classes. Standing: J. Ryder, clubs; C. Creasey, theme; C. Snyder, features; L. Scott, features; J. Dooley, classes; N. Stanley, copy; C. Vaughn, directory; S. Johnson, copy; R. Lambeth, and J. Ferguson, business managers.

The Heritage, Liberty's yearbook, is produced by students who have had little or no experience in working on an annual.

In the fall, the section editors learned to draw layouts, to crop pictures, and to write copy. These busy seniors worked during study halls and after school in order to meet their deadlines. The Editors-in-Chief, Bonnie Brewbaker, Jane Dudek, and Jane Overstreet, and Sponsor, Mrs. Lula Sigmon, advised the editors on their layouts and pictures.

In order to finance the annual, staff members, headed by business managers, Jane Ferguson and Robert Lambeth, sold ads throughout Bedford County, Lynchburg, and Roanoke during the summer and fall of 1966. They sold annuals to the faculty and student body in January.

On January 6, Mrs. Sigmon, Jane Overstreet, Diane Tomlin, and Carla Zimmerman visited Charlotte, North Carolina, to tour Delmar, which publishes the yearbook. In April, two delegates attended S.I.P.A. in Lexington to hear the rating on the 1966 Heritage and to learn the fine points of producing an annual.

The production of the yearbook took long hours of work, but they all seemed worthwhile when the books arrived in May.

WHAT'S SO INTERESTING? ... Browsing through annuals are J. McGehee, T. Phillips, W. Douglas, G. Raflo, D. Hylton, L. Martin, K. Obenchain, L. Sands, M. Reynolds, and K. Thomasson.

Sentinel Staff Incorporates New Features

THE CREASE GOES IN THE MIDDLE ... C. Noell, P. Daniels, K. Salyer, C. Bolling, S. Holdren, M. Brown, M. Johnston, J. Holdren, V. Johnson, and S. Johnson fold the February edition of The Sentinel.

THAT CAN'T BE RIGHT ... Linda Booth, co-editor; Howie Fine, "Voice of the People"; Dinx Jones, business manager; and Eddie Parker, editor; consult Miss Shell, sponsor, on several items for the paper.

The Sentinel began the year with Eddie Parker as editor-in-chief, and new co-sponsors—Miss Diane Shell and Mrs. Pat Gardner. Howard Fine's column "Voice of the People" afforded the student body an opportunity to express its opinions on such controversial subjects as smoking and drinking. "Ginger Snaps," edited by Virginia Gilmer, featured poems, stories, and essays written by students.

Articles on clubs, sports, various parades, and such events as the Matharama, the Science Fair, and Classroom Kwiz appeared in issues of the paper.

Representatives from The Sentinel attended the Richmond Newspaper Conference. Howard Fine, Julie Stanley, and Dinx Jones attended S.I.P.A. in Lexington to learn more about newspaper publications.

Twenty-five members of the Heritage and Sentinel groups received invitations to join the Peter Zenger Chapter of the Quill and Scroll Club.

To meet the necessary requirements of membership, one must be a junior or senior, have a ninety or above average, and must have applied his ability to some phase of journalism. He must also be recommended by the advisor of his publication.

Mrs. Ollie Hamm, advisor, assisted the activities committee with its main project of writing a continuing history of Liberty High School.

Students interested in library science as a career joined the Library Club. The club, with Miss Virginia Ruff as advisor and Amber Burch, president, undertook several projects during the year.

Linda Yates headed a committee on bulletin boards and posters. The objective of this committee was to maintain attractiveness throughout the library. Also, during National Library Week, the club held a poster contest.

As service projects, the members collected books for welfare children and sponsored a workshop on how to mend books and improve the organization of the library. The club provided library assistants to aid research and make the library operate more smoothly.

Science Club Sponsors Family Night

The S.O.S. Science Club began its year's activities by assisting in the District F Teachers' workshop in October.

Members and their parents observed Family Night on November 3 in the LHS auditorium. The guest speaker, Colonel John Reeves from VMI, spoke on the scientific values of the archeological discoveries at the Peaks of Otter. Later in November, the club participated in the Junior Science and Humanities Symposium.

Within the school the club promoted and participated in various contests, which consisted of the Westinghouse Science Talent Search, the NASA Regional Contest, the Meade Essay Contest, the FSA Contest, the Conservation Essay Contest, and the Annual William and Mary College Contest. The members helped to organize the local Science Fair, and later entered the outstanding projects in the Regional Science Fair at Roanoke College.

Some of the members submitted papers to the Virginia Junior Academy of Science in May. Mrs. Thaxton, advisor, urged students to attend the N.S.F. Summer Science Institutes.

During the year, the students engaged in community affairs. A float entered in the annual Christmas parade in Bedford placed second in the open float competition. In February, members collected funds in the "Heart Sunday" program.

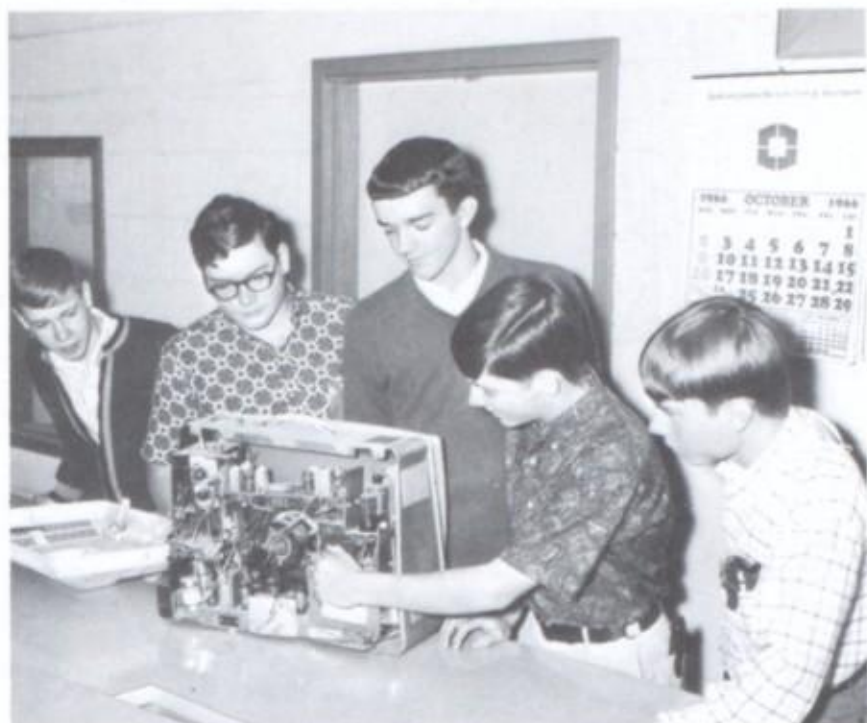

A banquet in the spring ended an active year.

Jets Prepare To Be Future Engineers

The Jets Club is for juniors and seniors desiring to become engineers. Sponsored by Mr. Joseph Thaxton, the club introduced projects planned to inform students of the values of this profession. Bruce Mitchell, Frank Thomasson, and other members participated in the local Science Fair. The club joined the Science Club for two field trips. Gary Raflo and Joey Laughon were two of the members who took part in the Westinghouse Science Talent Contest and the Virginia Science Talent Contest. Some of the students entered their essays in the Meade Contest.

Club president, Bruce Mitchell, presented monthly films designed for engineers from the Association Films Incorporated. The Chamber of Commerce Roster provided speakers for several club sessions.

Matharama and Skit Entertain PTA

Alpha Gamma Theta, Liberty's Math Club, had as its biggest project the annual Matharama presented on November 22. Carla Zimmerman, program chairman, directed a skit illustrating the need for math in today's world.

Several students were accepted as members of the National High School and Junior College Mathematics Club of America. In order to be eligible for membership, one must have above average grades, in math, have the council accept our high school curriculum, and must be in at least his third year of academic math.

During the year, the club has participated in contests sponsored by the V.J.A.S. and the F.S.A. Programs have included the study of slide rules, metric algebra, and outside speakers from the Chamber of Commerce.

Latin Students Present Plays in Latin

The Torchbearer's Club initiated its new members composed of Latin I students, by staging a Slave Day on September 27. The slaves wore tunics and served their masters according to the ancient Roman custom. At the end of the day, they provided entertainment by dancing, singing, and engaging in gladiator fights. Lynn Simpkins, Ann McCaully, and Marcella Schools, accompanied by Mary Scott, executed a well-performed dance routine.

At a banquet on November 8, the slaves received freedom papers and the Latin IV students inducted them into the club. The theme of the banquet was Duces Feminae Factis honoring Jane Overstreet, Dianne Hylton, Mary Wingfield, Donna Hylton, and Virginia Gilmer, the five girls studying Latin IV. The occasion began with augur Ray Smith consulting the auspices and ended with a meaningful candlelight ceremony.

In April, each class produced a play written entirely in Latin. The plots, taken from topics studied, were developed by the students. They wrote the lines for the skits and translated them into Latin. Also, during April several members competed in the annual Latin Tournament sponsored by the Americal Classical League.

Spanish Club Breaks Pinàta at Christmas

HEY, THAT'S MY HOUSE! . . . Richard Latimer points out Spanish-speaking countries to Pam Albert.

"Buenos Dias, mes amigos espanoles." With these words Spanish students began the new club year. The Spanish Club, with Betty Arrington as sponsor, worked together for their goal of furthering their knowledge of Spanish-speaking people, their customs, and their literature.

During an October meeting, Ruth Thurman conducted sounds of "La Cucuracha" and other Spanish melodies. At the November session, the members engaged in several games of loteria or Spanish bingo. For the December program, Pam Albert, chaplain, read the Christmas story. Barbara Paxton portrayed Mary; J. W. Abbott, Joseph; and other club members posed as shepherds and carolers in re-creating the Christmas story.

An exchange student from Columbia spoke to the club about her country. Aquites Amparon, M. D., a new doctor at Bedford County Memorial Hospital, related Spanish customs and legends to the students.

The club presented El Dia de Espanol on April 1. Spanish posters depicting Spanish life were displayed throughout the halls. Students donned festive, gaily-colored costumes in an effort to create a Spanish atmosphere at Liberty.

French Club Joins L'Alliance de Francaise

The principal aim of the French Club this year was to give French students a creditable knowledge and background of traditions and beliefs of the French people.

Members of the club attended the monthly meetings of L'Alliance de Francaise at Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg. At Christmas, the Renards, a French family, gave a party for the members of L'Alliance de Francaise.

Wanda Moore, vice-president, narrated a fashion show during the October club period. Among the more prominent models were Andy Britts, Gordon Fine, Geneva Martin, Robert Ashwell, and Kathleen Thomasson. A student from Amherst County High School visited the club in November. He presented a program of slides which pointed out interesting places in France.

The students celebrated the annual French Day in the spring. The festivities, under the supervision of Sally Williamson, concluded with a banquet according to the French style.

FHA Panel Discussion Enlivens Club

CONFUCIOUS SAY . . . The officers, Mary Lou Bell, historian; Mary Elizabeth Tomlinson, treasurer; Jerry Crowell, vice-president; and Dinx Jones, recreational leader, discuss a program with their guest speaker, Peggy Tucker.

The Future Homemakers of America provided an opportunity for girls to become better homemakers and responsible citizens of the community.

To stress the club's theme "Neighbors Near and Far," Karl Hehl, a Liberty student, related his experiences which he gained during a year at a Spanish school.

A large delegation from Liberty attended the Federation Meeting at Staunton River High held on October 27. Peggy Tucker, a student at E. C. Glass High in Lynchburg, shared her experiences as a foreign exchange student in Germany. Further emphasis was placed on the year's theme by the Federation officers, Mary Elizabeth Tomlinson, Mary Lou Bell, Dinx Jones, and Jerry Crowell, who dressed in costumes of foreign lands.

At the March meeting a student-faculty panel discussed problems of teenagers today. Members of the panel, Mr. Black, Miss Owen, Miss Harmon, Miss Shell, Danny Toms, Robert Ashwell, Jack Foster, Mr. Caldwell, Dana Newman, Mary Elizabeth Tomlinson, and Judy Chandler presented a debate on the relations of teens with parents. At this same meeting, Betsy Kay Tobias, a

FBLA Highlights Business Opportunities

The Future Business Leaders of America was organized to produce better business leaders and to increase interest in the business field.

During their October meeting, the sponsor, Mrs. Coreina Mishoe, introduced Mr. Dillinger from the 3M Company, who told the club about the business opportunities in his company. In November, a representative from the Hollywood School of Beauty discussed the aspects involved in opening a business establishment.

For the February meeting, the speaker from Phillips Business College spoke about the values of a sound business education. In April, a panel of students from surrounding business colleges held a discussion on better business practices.

Charlotte Quarles headed a committee that sold personalized stationery as a money-making project.

Beverly Snyder and her committee prepared a Christmas bulletin board in the front of the senior high building.

At the final assembly, the club awarded a scholarship to a member who had shown leadership in the field of business.

FTA Members Are Guides on College Day

President Sue Craig led the Future Teachers of America members in activities for the promotion of greater interest in the teaching profession.

At several club meetings, Mrs. Edith Shelton, club sponsor, showed interesting films. One of these films, "The Teacher," dealt with a trained professional person working in the field of her choice. "The Dropout" illustrated the advantages of a good education.

During College and Career Day, club members served as guides for the visiting college representatives and the inquiring students.

Sue Craig, Mary Fellers, and Helen Harper represented their club at the State FTA Convention held at Hotel Roanoke in December.

Committee activity work, in which activity points were given, was an important part of the FTA's functions. As an achievement symbol, the club presented pins after the required points were obtained.

Sally Williamson, Elaine Dooley and other prospective teachers served as aides to some of the faculty members. Helen Harper worked with the remedial students.

FFA Competes in Forestry Contest

Liberty High's chapter of the Future Farmers of America attended agricultural contests and meetings held in the Bedford-Botetourt area. The club went to an FFA federation meeting on September 7.

On October 3, Ronnie Dooley and Andy Lee, accompanied by the sponsors, Mr. Clay and Mr. Harmon, presented an FFA program on Lynchburg's WLVA-TV.

Ronnie Dooley, Mark Dooley, Gaylon Lam, and Larry Routon scored a victory for Liberty at the forestry judging contest. Leo English, Tim Massey, Malcolm Turner, and Ronnie Dooley composed Liberty's team at the November federation crops contest. In February the FFA participated in shop judging contests at Lord Botetourt and at VPI. The Liberty chapter also competed in beef and dairy judging contests.

Thirty-five boys received the Degree of Green Hand at the initiation ceremony.

DE Offers Practical Work Experiences

The D. E. Club strives to reach those students who do not plan to attend college. The club members acquire on-the-job training while they study today's business world in the classroom.

The annual Fall Rally, held this year at Brookville High School on October 25, began the schedule of activities for the year.

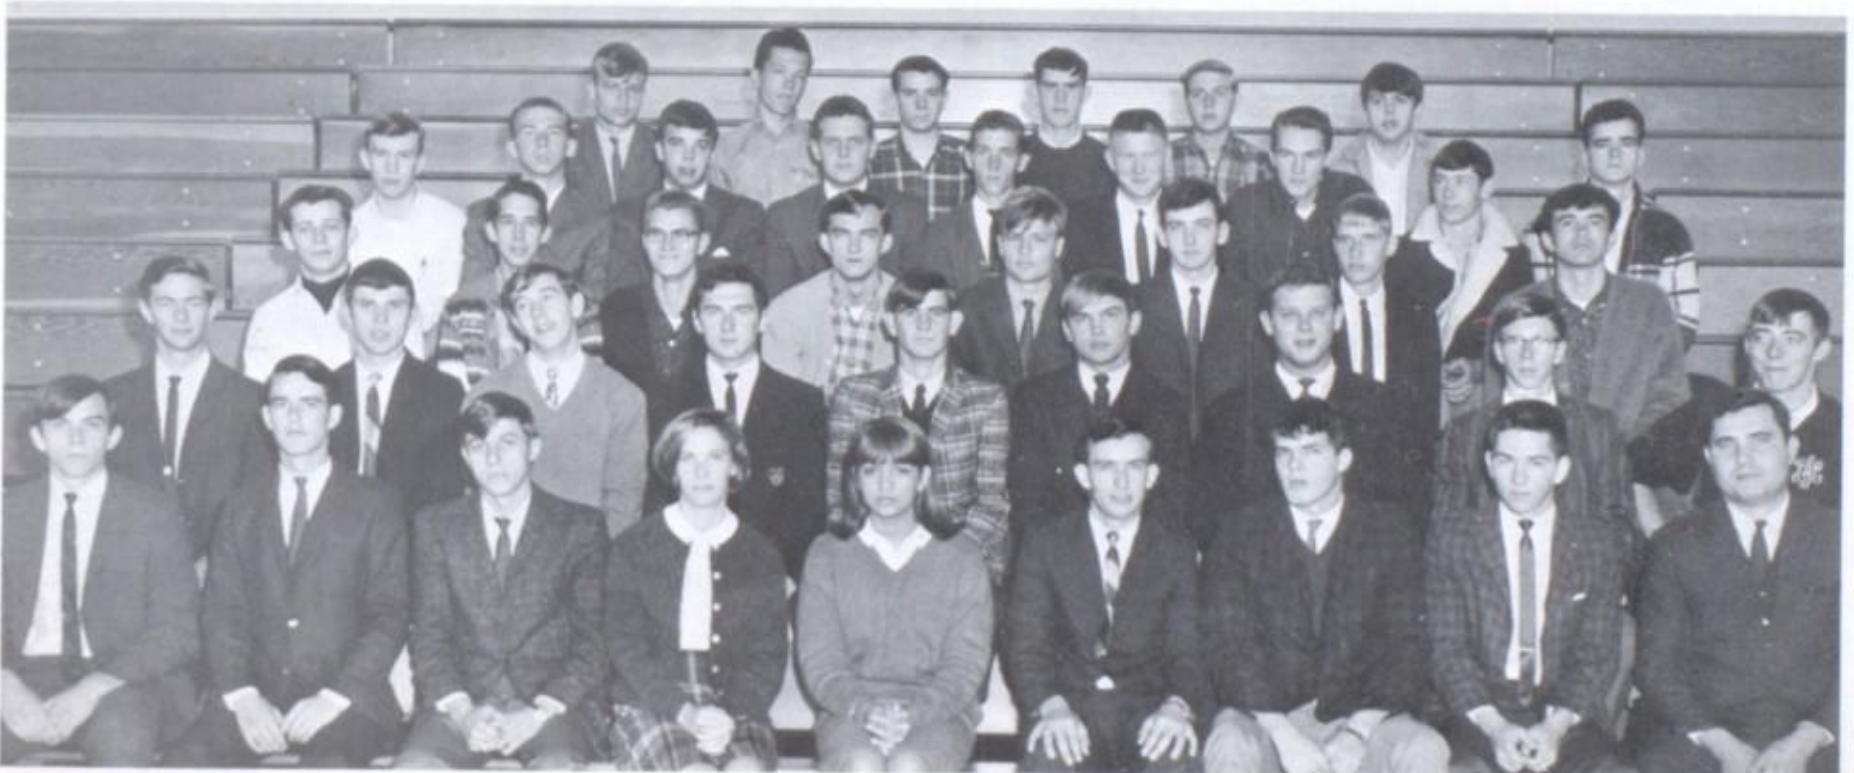

D. E. members entered a float in the Christmas parade. They collected food and clothing for Christmas baskets to be given to underprivileged families.

In February Marilyn Watson, Eddie Daniels, and John Campbell displayed the club's purposes on the bulletin board in the lobby of each building. Janice Cundiff, Johnny Newman, and Charlie Jones represented the club at the Leadership Conference held in the spring.

The businessmen who employed Liberty students were guests of honor at the Employer-Employee Banquet in May.

Forensic Members Study Essentials of Debate

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF SUPERMAN? . . . Shirley Plunkett, John Chilton, and Kathy Robertson search for material for a future discussion.

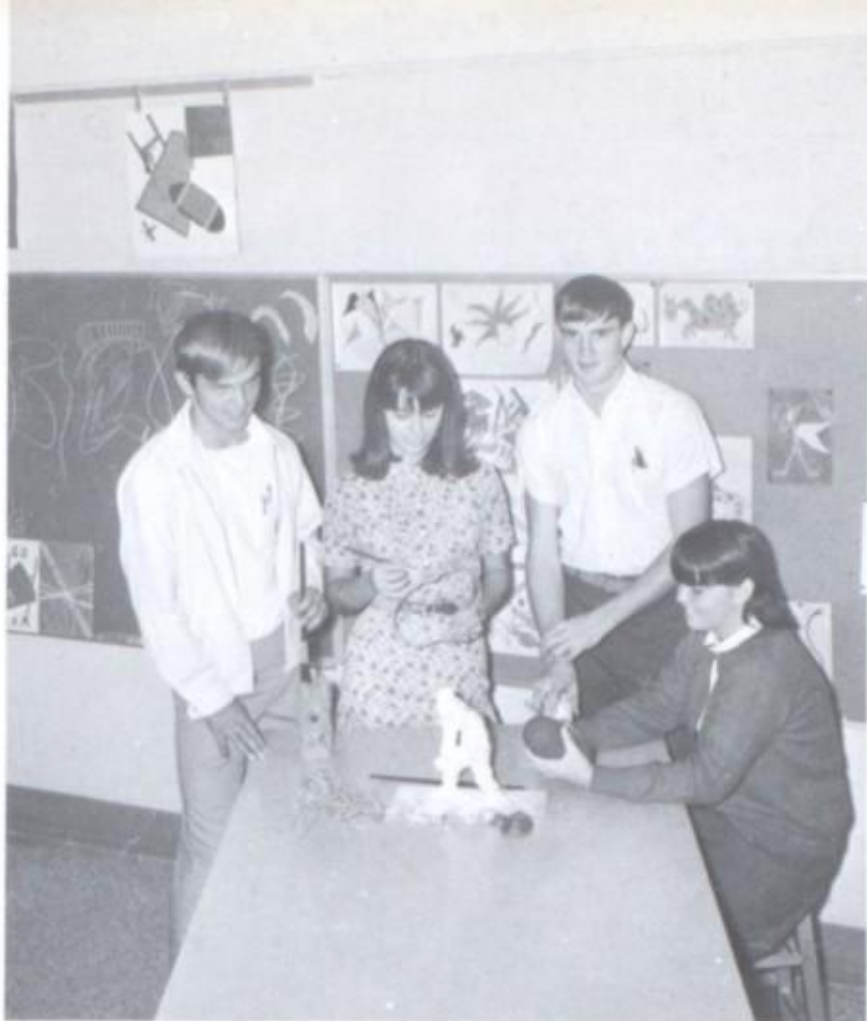

The Forensic Club gave its support to the link of leadership. The purpose of this club is to provide experiences for those interested in public speaking and debating. It seeks to prepare students to express opinions tactfully and to speak freely on any subject which they feel should be discussed.

This year the club functioned smoothly under its president, Kathy Robertson, and the other chosen officers. Members participated in a Forensic contest held in March with entries in prose reading, poetry, public speaking, debating, reading, and spelling.

Mrs. Belle D. English, club sponsor, directed debates on many different topics in which the members, Steve Mayberry, Connie Markham, Kathy Robertson, Shirley Plunkett, John Chilton, and Richard Waldron, participated.

Their programs included guest speakers from time to time who brought new ideas. Many discussions were led by the members themselves who expressed definite well-formed opinions on a variety of subjects while observing the rules of alternating speakers and orderly procedure.

LEADER OF THE PACK . . . Eddie Daniels, president; Judy Ryder, vice-president; Brownie Reynolds, secretary; and Priscilla Daniels, treasurer design the crown for homecoming.

The Art Club, headed by its president, Eddie Daniels, offered a variety of artistic ability to the school. Accomplishments of the club members included the designing of a float for the miniature Homecoming parade and the crown for the Homecoming Queen. The club also made decorations for the Christmas trees in both the Junior and Senior court yards.

Members for the first time displayed their compositions around the school and took part in community activities. Priscilla Daniels, Brownie Reynolds, Parkie Long, and other art students showed their work individually in a glass display case which the Art Club secured for "one-man" art exhibits. Eddie Daniels, Steve Wooldridge, Judy Ryder, and Jimmy Turpin participated in the "Side-Walk Art Show" held in the spring and sponsored by the Bedford Jaycettes. Kenneth Dalton, Sherry Massie, and Billy Blankenship arranged an art display in the library. The students demonstrated creativeness and individuality in their endeavors.

Mrs. Julia Overstreet, club sponsor and teacher of art, presented several films which illustrated different aspects of art. Among those shown were "Art and Culture," "Art Survives the Times," and "Art in Our World."

Arts and Crafts Designs Archery Equipment

The Arts and Crafts Club developed skill in areas not included in the offerings of the industrial arts department. The boys took an active part in club enterprises and adapted quickly and eagerly to well-planned projects and hobbies.

At several club meetings, the boys, under the supervision of Mr. Philip Douglas and Mr. Pat Sherman, made laminated bows. President Danny Toms, Jimmy Lindsay, Robert Ashwell, and other members undertook the refinishing of gunstocks. Mr. John Dudek, President of Frank Chervan, Incorporated, spoke during a club session on the mechanics of wood-work.

Steve Wooldridge, Roger Dooley, Jack Foster, Lonnie Parker, and Mackie Markham built and painted the screen used for the Billy Graham movie, "The Restless Ones." They also made the sign Drive for Five placed on the gym roof by the football cheerleaders.

To improve the shop department, the boys made and sold candleholders at Christmas as a money-making project.

The Medical Careers Club, open to students in grades nine through twelve, was sponsored by the Committee on Careers, National League for Nursing. This highly-efficient organization promoted interest in the areas of nursing, health, and other medical careers.

At several of the club sessions, pamphlets and other literature were distributed among the members. This information gave further details concerning medicine and health. At one meeting Mrs. Clarence Mathews, a registered nurse at the Community Hospital in Roanoke, talked to the group about different medical activities in which they might be interested.

Mary Johnson, Georgie Smith, and Ina Wray Cassidy, students in the nursing program, entertained the club with a reception in April after a tour of the Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Liberty High's coordinated nursing program enabled the nursing students to attend school for half a day and to work at the hospital during the rest of the day.

Monogram Club Recognizes Varsity Athletes

GIVE 'EM A YELL ... The Varsity Basketball cheerleaders open a home game with a favorite cheer.

The Monogram Club is composed of senior boys and girls who have earned a varsity letter in one of the following sports: football, basketball, track, tennis, golf, baseball, cheerleading, or as manager of one of the squads. Students who qualified for letters received them at the athletic awards assembly at the end of the school year. Through the aid of the SCA, the Pep Club combined with the Monogram Club. The organization's chief purpose was to promote better sportsmanship and school spirit among the students.

Mr. Don Meredith, head basketball coach, and Mr. Charles Black, head football coach, served as sponsors for the club.

Senior Band Performs at Football Games

In its third year, Liberty's Marching Band established itself as one of the best in the area. The Senior Band performed at home football games and at two away games. It marched in the Harvest Bowl Parade, the Shrine Parade, and the annual Christmas Parade.

The Senior Band played an important part in the Christmas and Spring Concerts held to raise money for the new band uniforms and choral robes. Band members provided the music, built sets, and portrayed minor characters for the production of "Carnival."

The Marching Band participated in the University of Virginia Band Day, the District Music Festival, and the Dogwood Festival. Several members attended All-State Band.

"LIBERTY SWINGS LIKE A PENDULUM DO" ... The Senior Band practices to increase their musical knowledge.

THAT'S WHAT THE MAN SAID ... John Gilmer, vice-president; Jimmy Holdren, drum major; Timmy Childress, president; Earl Sutherland, historian; and Munsford DeWitt, secretary-treasurer are the Senior Band officers.

COME BLOW YOUR HORN ... Nat Harvey, Johnny Turner, Bill Thomasson, Tommy Hodges, Roger Hatcher, and Tommy Witt take a deep breath and begin a special arrangement.

Junior Band Learns Precision Drills

The eighth and ninth graders who form Liberty's Junior Band explored fundamentals of music and techniques of marching. This year's active Junior Band represented Liberty in both the Homecoming Parade and the Shrine Parade. It also performed in the District Music Festival and the Dogwood Festival.

The Junior Band displayed its newly acquired skills in intra-school activities such as the Christmas and Spring Concerts, the talent show, and the musical "Carnival".

In addition to its musical contributions, this enthusiastic group of Junior High students served the community by making and distributing gift baskets for Christmas.

The Marching Band, already one of the best in Bedford County, will undoubtedly benefit by additional members from this year's enterprising and talented Junior Band.

JUNIOR BAND MEMBERS ... First Row: M. Overstreet, C. Synan, P. Dean, C. Powers, D. Laing, M. May, D. Miller, D. Dowdy, D. McMillan, B. Saunders, J. Sivley, M. Overstreet, H. Mackey. Second Row: D. Brown, R. Hughes, D. Hylton, N. Harvey, J. Turner, B. Thomasson, T. Witt, M.

The Liberty High School Chorus presented musical programs throughout the year. The two most outstanding ones were the Christmas Concert in December and the Spring Concert in March. The addition of a fifteen-member bell choir highlighted these programs.

During the Christmas season, the chorus entertained the patients at Bedford County Memorial Hospital with carols. Before school closed for the holidays, the chorus toured the halls of Liberty singing Yuletide songs. They also appeared on the WLVA-TV Annual Christmas Program in Lynchburg.

The major undertaking for the year was producing the musical "Carnival" at LHS. The group received a high rating in the District Music Festival in March. Alan Strawn, Mike Bryant, Mary Jo Fleenor, Dana Carden, and Barbara Lawhorne attended All-State Chorus in Narrows, Virginia, in the spring.

Drill Team Marches in Dogwood Festival

HIGH STEPPING ... Elizabeth Callaham, Sally Thomas, Lou Clark, Marietta Binger, and Cindy Smith go through a practice routine.

SITTING PRETTY ... Sue Bowden, Cindy Allen, Mary Eubank, Linda Martin, Betty Abbott, captain, and Martha Dowdy pause during an afternoon practice.

The Drill Team, consisting of sixteen girls in grades nine through twelve upheld the traditional colors of Liberty in their red and white, and blue uniforms.

Directed by Mrs. Pat Coleman, sponsor, and Betty Lee Abbott, captain, the squad worked out drills to accompany the band during the football games at halftime. Also, the group enacted routines in the Shrine and Homecoming Parades and at some of the basketball games.

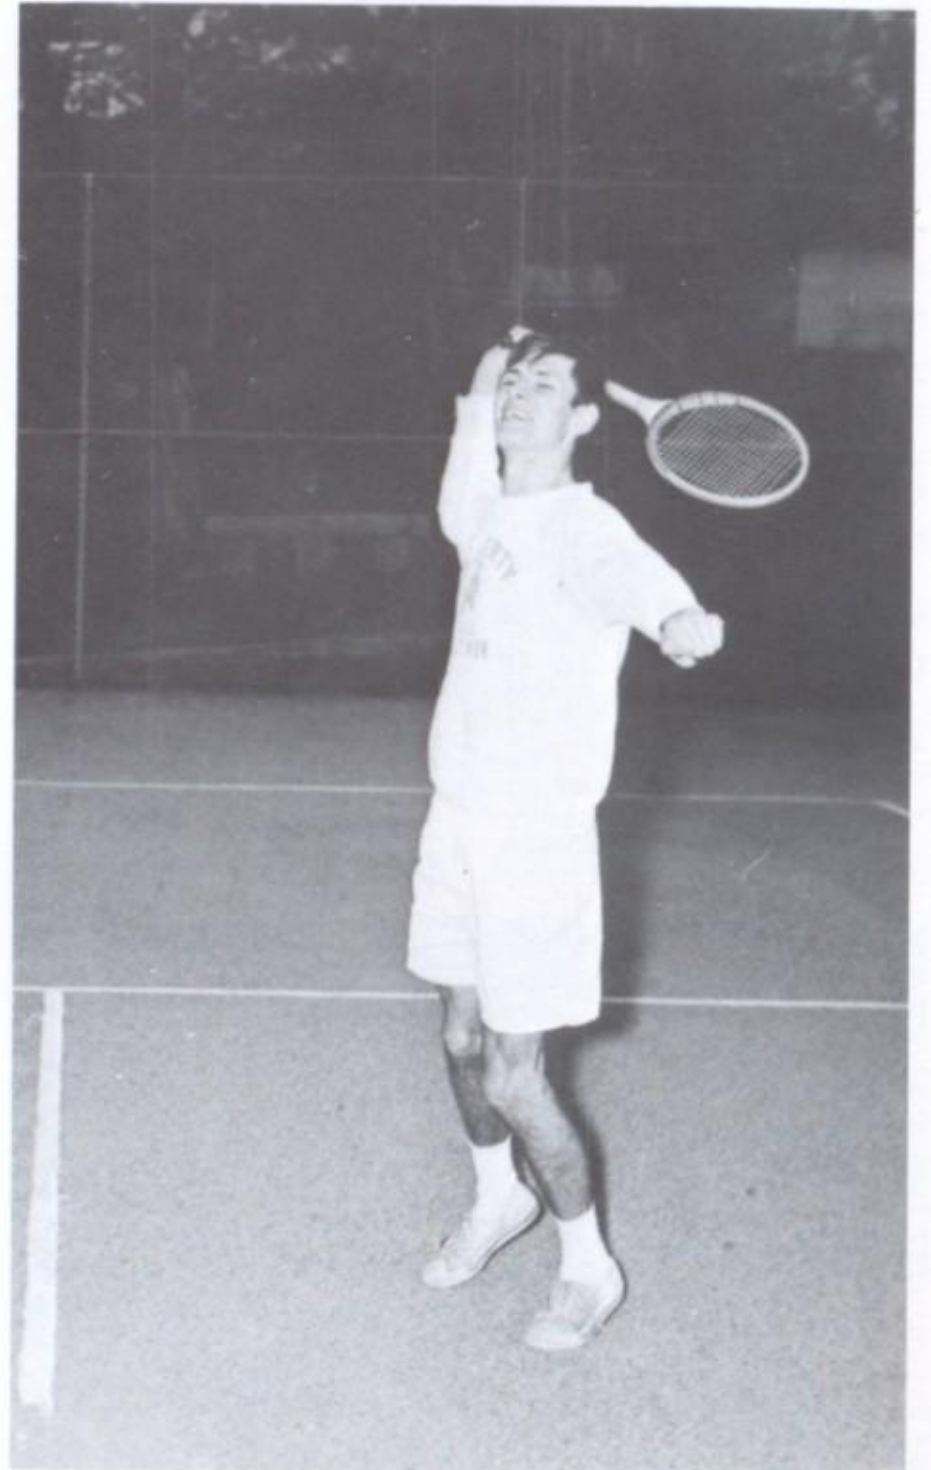

The girls attended Band Day at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville, performed at the Harvest Bowl Game in Roanoke, and marched in the annual Christmas Parade.

In the spring, they took part in the Dogwood Festival in Vinton.

DRILL TEAM MEMBERS ... Elizabeth Callaham, Cindy Smith, Lou Clark, Marietta Binger, Sally Thomas, Betty

Abbott, Martha Dowdy, Mary Eubank, Sue Bowden, Cindy Allen, and Linda Martin.

COMPETITION

The rousing school spirit was apparent throughout each season of Liberty's six competitive sports. Persevering team effort strengthened the athletic program of the Minutemen and contributed to the growth of the individual.

Minutemen Dominate Pigskin Action as

CATCH IT IF YOU CAN . . . Peewee Bush's anxious hands wait to receive the "flying pigskin" while a Bassett player springs into action.

"GET BACK JACK" . . . Jackie Harris momentarily falters as he looks for a hole in the onrushing wall of Covington defenders.

The Minutemen under new head coach Zack Black opened the '66 season with a game against Brookville. The Minutemen played an outstanding game defensively. Frank (Peewee) Bush scored the only TD with a 20-yard scamper in the second quarter. Final score—LHS 7-BHS 0.

Defense again stood out when the Minutemen came against Cave Spring. Liberty's offense moved the ball well, but fumbles and penalties proved costly. The score at the final gun was 0-0.

In the early minutes of the third game, this time with Bassett, a Bengal latched on to a blocked kick in the end zone for a quick six points. A determined Minutemen offense, however, penetrated to Bassett's 10-yard line. Mike (Pickles) Coleman plunged over the stripe, and Richard Latimer's conversion was good. The stubborn LHS defense dominated the Bengals the rest of the evening. The score was 7-6.

A plague of fumbles and penalties dogged the already low-spirited squad throughout most of the game with Lord Botetourt. However, in the closing minutes of the first half, Peewee Bush picked up six points for the Minutemen on a 20-yard pass from Pickles Coleman. Richard Latimer's 24-yard field goal late in the fourth quarter clinched the victory 10-6.

Superior Defense Overwhelms Opponents

PYROMANIACS . . . Co-captains Oscar Padgett and Jackie Harris spark team spirit by cremating the Covington effigy.

A vigorously aggressive Minutemen team greeted the Northside Vikings. Early in the first quarter, Pickles Coleman lofted a long bomb to Francis Nance that set up the first Minutemen TD. Wayne Bailey sneaked 12 yards through the center of the line into the end zone. The score remained 7-6 until tackle Oscar Padgett, recovering a fumble on the 9-yard line, dashed in for a touchdown. Final score — LHS 14-NHS 6.

Liberty was defensively inept in the game against the Cougars of Covington. The highlight of the evening came in the third quarter with a 30-yard pass-play from Pickles Coleman to Pee-wee Bush, who scampered across the goal line for the six pointer. Richard Latimer converted the ensuing PAT for Liberty making the final score 27-7.

The last-minute defeat at the hands of the Amherst Lancers was the result of faulty pass defense in the final quarter. After a slow first half, the Minutemen rallied with two hard-earned touchdowns. Amherst retaliated with two quick ones and won 13-14.

Liberty's pass-defense shattered as the squad suffered a resounding defeat 28-0 by the Franklin County Eagles.

Liberty's dauntless spirit propelled the Minutemen to a narrow margin of victory over the William Byrd Terriers. The rugged defense held the opponents to scanty yardage as the relentless offensive drives won them a touchdown pass from Pickles Coleman to Pee-wee Bush. Score 7-0.

TIGHT SQUEEZE . . . The going gets rough as Wayne Bailey is "affectionately" hugged by two "friendly" foes.

The Minutemen overwhelmed Group I-A Halifax in the final game of the season. The first score for LHS came when defensive guard Danny Toms pounced on a loose ball in the end zone for a TD. The offense then marched to Halifax's 4-yard line where Pickles Coleman slipped over for the score. In the third period Liberty's defense scored the final 8 points. Terminal score — LHS 22 - HHS 7.

The Minutemen concluded their season with an overall record of 6-3-1 — the best in Liberty's three-year history. This performance earned for the team a second place in the Blue Ridge District. The stalwart defense, the resolute offense, and the extraordinary punting of Mike Coleman all contributed to an exciting football season.

DRINK HEARTY, BOYS . . . Barry Overstreet and Cliff Overstreet drain the water bucket while their teammates watch a crucial play.

The J.V. Minutemen began their season with a resounding 27-7 win over Lord Botetourt. However, numerous injuries to key players held the team to only two more victories, both over Brookville. They suffered defeat at the hands of William Byrd, Cave Spring, and Glenvar.

The J.V.'s, due to the experience and training provided by coaches Don Meredith and Pat Sherman, showed a marked improvement over last year's 1-5 record. Many of the boys displayed the necessary mastery of skills, ability, and desire that will make them prime candidates for next year's varsity team.

The eighth grade team offered young boys their first opportunity to participate in high school athletics. Coached by Phil Douglas, the players learned the basic fundamentals of football using a two platoon system. The coaching staff placed emphasis throughout the season on good sportsmanship.

Despite a rather unimpressive overall record of 2-5, they won their first game with Franklin County 6-0 and finished their season strongly by defeating the Bedford Recreation team 42-0.

The goal of the varsity football cheerleaders was to improve school sportsmanship. These vibrant girls informed students of games through pep rallies and posters. They also sold booster items to arouse school spirit and to help pay for their new tri-colored uniforms.

Homecoming was the highpoint of the football season. The cheerleaders and their sponsor, Mrs.

Sherman, staged a bonfire pep rally, decorated the goal posts, and sponsored a post-game dance with the funds from several successful bakesales.

Preceding the final game of the season, the cheerleaders paid special recognition to the football players by designating their lockers with paper football helmets.

The Minutemen squad began the year with three returning starters and six returning lettermen. They opened the season with two easy wins over Lord Botetourt and Brookville.

The first game, however, brought the beginning of a series of injuries which were to plague the team throughout the season. Starting guard, Bob Graves in pursuit of a loose man during the first two minutes of the game, collided with a wall and suffered a broken arm. In later games, the list of injuries mounted as guard Charles Strode and forward Bill McDaniel received broken fingers; co-captain Jimmy Falls, a shoulder separation which required surgery; and co-captain John Barrett, a badly sprained ankle. In the closing weeks of the season high scoring player, sophomore Mike Coleman, sustained a blow which broke his nose. These injuries forced Liberty lost close games to Covington and Buena Vista. The following week the team faced William Byrd and met defeat at the hands of the Terriers. However, the next two games found Liberty victorious over Staunton River and Brookville.

The Minutemen returned to action following the Christmas holidays in a district home game against Cave Spring. The team edged the Knights 58-56 in overtime. Three new starters Marvin Mills, Wayne Bailey, and Brownie Reynolds played major roles in the win.

The boys dropped hard fought games to undefeated Amherst and to Northside in overtime. The next week, the Minutemen defeated Amherst 62-57, but found themselves the losers to taller Covington and William Byrd.

Buena Vista came to Bedford and fell victim to Liberty 70-69. Jimmy Falls returned to the lineup and scored 18 points, and Mike Coleman led the scoring with 28 points.

Liberty traveled to Lord Botetourt and handed the Cavaliers a sound 80-56 defeat with Coleman scoring 32, Falls 18, and Barrett 16.

During the next two weeks the Minutemen suffered losses from Cave Spring, Staunton River, and Northside.

The team's seasonal record indicates that Coach Don Meredith had more than his share of worry and frustration during the basketball season.

The Minettes, competing for the first time in an organized basketball league, produced the best league record of any LHS basketball team this season. The new unlimited dribble rule and the clock-stopping regulations helped to speed up their game.

The lack of experience among the members did not keep the team from becoming an efficient, hardworking unit. Mrs. McCabe, their coach, drilled the girls with strenuous exercises which developed teamwork and effective offensive and defensive strategies. Coach McCabe instructed the girls in a man-to-man defense, a two-two zone, and a mixture of the two systems. Debbie Tomlin, followed by co-captains Tera Yoder and Elizabeth Berry, led the Minettes in scoring.

The girls suffered three defeats in league play, losing to Patrick Henry, William Fleming, and Roanoke Catholic in overtime.

Forty-three boys went out for the J.V. team, and from this group Coach Pat Sherman chose fourteen boys for the squad.

The boys ran a 1-3-1 zone offense. The play-makers, Chuck Clement and Greg Bailey, handled the ball with skill while Raymond Ashwell and Jim Trevey dominated the boards.

The man-to-man defense employed by the team taught the boys speed and co-ordination. Although the shooting was inconsistent, the team showed marked improvement as the season progressed.

This year's varsity basketball cheerleaders added several effective innovations to their routine. They elected Jo Ann Hardy as the first basketball mascot. The senior members of the squad alternated as captains and initiated the practice of decorating the hoop for all home games.

With the helpful criticism and advice of their sponsors, Mrs. Mayhew and Mrs. Sigmon, the squad made posters for the halls, decorated the team bus for away games, and sold booster ribbons to the students for home games. They held pep rallies during the senior high lunch period. Their leadership instilled enthusiasm and school spirit in the student body.

The returning lettermen, as well as the rookies, on the junior varsity baseball team started the season with enthusiasm. Their main objective was to equal last year's record of six wins and no losses.

Added strength in batting and fielding by new team members plus the pitching, speed, and ability of the returning sluggers gave Coach Phil Douglas the prospect of another good record.

With only two courts available for practice, all matches had to be played away, but this did not seriously hinder the players. The strong individual efforts in the singles matches and excellent teamwork from the doubles partners enabled the netmen to post an outstanding season.

Varsity Track Team Increases

JOUSTING TOURNEY? . . . Richard Latimer races toward the cross bar in a practice vault.

The Liberty High track team offered participants an opportunity to demonstrate their skills in various individual events. Early in the spring season, the trackmen began their daily workouts. New members filled many of the positions on the squad.

During the year, the school bought new track and field equipment. New hurdles, jumping pits, and much improvement on the track itself made Liberty's field suitable for home meets.

Led by Coach Bob Worrell, the trackmen faced stiff competition. However, excellent individual performances and teamwork made this a highly successful season.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT . . . Earl Toms, Bruce Mitchell, Larry Bandy, and Joe Parker take their position for the 100-yard dash.

HE FLYS THROUGH THE AIR . . . Richard Latimer crosses the bar with inches to spare.

"BAREFOOT BOY WITH CHEEKS OF TAN" . . . Bruce Mitchell improves co-ordination by jumping rope.

"WHO TOOK THE SAWDUST?" . . . Larry Wood leaps toward the broad jump pit during a practice jump.

SIMON SAYS CROUCH . . . Carroll Pinion, Larry Wood, and David Johnson crouch just before they begin the 440.

JV's Concentrate on Individual Skills

Participation in junior varsity track was limited because of the small turnout in the spring. The team entered three meets and joined with the varsity track members in several others.

The small number of the group did not keep them from putting forth 100% effort to improve themselves in both physical ability and in experience.

"WHEW! ONLY 125 MORE LAPS TO GO" . . . David Johnson goes through a strenuous workout to build endurance.

"WATCH MY DUST" . . . Larry Wood bursts past Carroll Pinion as they finish the mile relay.

Howard, Dave Shackelford, Frank Thomasson, Frank Morgan.

Golfers Swing into Action

The Liberty clubmen's schedule included eight matches during the 1967 season. Practice, under the direction of Don Meredith, began for the nine participants the week after basketball season ended. The boys' goal for the year was competition in the state tournament in Richmond.

Veterans Bob Graves, David Shackelford, Charles Strode, and Frank Thomasson, along with new additions from the Junior High and transfer students, made up the '67 golf team.

"FORGET SOMETHING, BOB?" . . . David Shackelford spots the ball after Bob Graves tees off.

PARTICIPATION

Abilities were reflected in scholastic attainment. Honors awarded through extra-curricular activities brought a sense of pride to the student body and an appreciation for a program that was not all work and no play.

Principal Crowns Homecoming Queen

THE 1966 HOMECOMING COURT . . . Martha Stevens, freshman representative; Bonnie Brewbaker, maid of honor; Barbara Daniels, eighth grade representative; Linda Rockecharlie, sophomore representative; Rosemary Arney, senior representative; Dana Newman, junior representative.

PROMENADE . . . Patty Jo Harris leads the mini-parade with the cheerleaders' float as Tera Yoder and Mary Elizabeth Tomlinson follow pulling the senior float.

The Liberty Minutemen played host to the Covington Cougars in the annual Homecoming game on October 7. To ignite the students' spirit for the game, the cheerleaders held a pep rally around a bonfire during sixth period. A parade featuring miniature floats entered by different clubs and classes added interest and stirred the competitive urge.

In the evening before the game, Bedford was treated to a parade of the Homecoming court. The three candidates for queen and representatives from each class made up the cortege and were accompanied by other floats.

At half-time the band and drill team, forming themselves into a crown, welcomed the members of the Homecoming court and their escorts. Jane Overstreet was crowned queen and Bonnie Brewbaker, maid of honor.

In spite of a well-played game, the team met defeat in a 27-7 loss. However, they joined with the other students and alumni in the dance held in the gym, which concluded the Homecoming festivities.

Parade Honors Shrine Court

1966 SHRINE QUEEN AND COURT . . . Patty Jo Harris, sophomore representative; Cindy Smith, junior representative; Gail Rider, senior representative; Jane Dudek, queen;

Elizabeth Berry, maid of honor; Bonnie Harmon, freshman representative; Donna DeSimone, eighth grade representative.

The annual Shrine game, played against Halifax County High on November 4, brought to an end the football season. The gate receipts went to the Shriners' Hospital for handicapped children, one of the projects of this organization.

The spirited cheerleaders attempted to rouse responsive enthusiasm in the students. A pep rally held in the auditorium before the game helped to accomplish this aim.

In honor of the Shrine Court a parade through Bedford preceded the game. Jane Dudek reigned as the '66 Shrine queen with Elizabeth Berry as maid of honor.

Good sportsmanship prevailed throughout the game which Liberty won 22-7. Both teams showed determination in their efforts to support the Shriners' motto, "Strong legs run, that weak legs may walk."

1-2-3-4 . . . Cindy Nester, Brenda Dudley, Kandy Reynolds, Kathleen Thomasson and Vicki Carter cheer in the Shrine parade through Bedford.

KEEP SMILING! . . . Jane Dudek is escorted by John Barrett during the Shrine Court activities.

Liberty Students Participate

THE 1967 JUNIOR MISS AND SECOND RUNNER UP . . . Sue Ella Johnson, on the night of November 26, was chosen Bedford's Junior Miss with Mary Elizabeth DeWitt as second runner-up.

MINUTEMEN, GREAT! . . . The varsity football and basketball cheerleaders Jane Ferguson, Jane Dudek, Bonnie Brewbaker, Nancy Stanley, Judy Ryder, Rosemary

One of the most significant opportunities offered to students at LHS was the opportunity to excel.

Representing Liberty on Classroom Kwiz, November 7, were Jane Overstreet, John McGehee, and Gary Raflo. The contest proved to be a close one with the panel losing to Marion High in a playoff.

Liberty students displayed their versatility in a variety of talent, presented at the Second Annual Talent Show. This program was given to raise funds for band uniforms and choir robes.

On November 18, the senior members of the football and basketball cheerleading squads participated in a cheer rally at Roanoke Catholic High School. The cheerleaders displayed their spirit and enthusiasm as they led Liberty students in a number of cheers.

The Senior class designed a float resembling a sleigh for the Snow Court in the Christmas parade. Queen Bonnie Brewbaker was accompanied on the float by Carolyn Creasey, Jane Dudek, Jane Overstreet, and Judy Ryder.

Four students, Mary Elizabeth DeWitt, Donna Hylton, Sue Johnson, and Carolyn Snyder, competed in the Junior Miss Pageant on November 26. Personality, charm, talent, appearance, and a personal interview determined the final choice of the judges. The climax of the evening came with the crowning of Sue Johnson as Junior Miss, Mary Elizabeth DeWitt as second runner-up, and Carolyn Snyder as Miss Congeniality.

I HOPE WE WIN . . . John McGehee, Jane Overstreet, and Gary Raflo take time to study before appearing on Classroom Kwiz.

In Activities during Fall Season

Arney, Jane Overstreet, and Elizabeth Berry participate in a cheer rally held at Roanoke Catholic High School.

ENJOYING YOUR RIDE, GIRLS? . . . Carolyn Snyder and Sue Johnson, two contestants in the Junior Miss Pageant, ride in the Christmas parade.

IN A ONE HORSE OPEN SLEIGH . . . Bonnie Brewbaker smiles while she rides in the Christmas parade as 1966 Snow Court Queen. Sharing the sleigh with her are Judy Ryder, Jane Overstreet, Carolyn Creasey, and Jane Dudek, attendants.

Students Receive Public Recognition

"GIVE ME THAT OLE SOFT SHOE" . . . Liberty High School students dance to the music on Saturday Session.

GOING SOMEWHERE, TERA? . . . Tera Yoder, chosen by the members of the senior class and faculty to receive the DAR Good Citizen Award leaves at the end of a day.

"YUK" IT UP BOYS! . . . Gary Raflo and Joey Laughon, who received Letters of Commendation in the National Merit Scholarship Test, browse through college catalogues.

Liberty's student body has established itself as an outstanding one in the few years of the school's existence.

Liberty students appeared on the television program, "Saturday Session", on December 17. The art, math, and home-economics departments sent displays to the program. A panel, consisting of four seniors, discussed "Arrest Procedures" during the show.

The senior class chose Tera Yoder as the recipient of the "DAR Good Citizen" Award.

Joey Laughon and Gary Raflo received Letters of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Test.

The Liberty High School Chorus presented the annual Christmas Concert with the handbell choir as an added feature.

SILENT NIGHT . . . The members of the Liberty High School Chorus sing a Yuletide carol during the Christmas concert.

Students Compete in Area Contests

SING OUT, DANA . . . Dana Carden demonstrates how she won first place award in the Bland Music Contest.

Extra-curricular contests enabled students to display their literary and musical talents and develop their leadership abilities.

The publication sponsors sent The Heritage and The Sentinel to S.I.P.A. for judging on content, quality, and originality.

The Bland Music Contest was held on February 19, at Bedford Elementary School. Dana Carden won the first place award in vocal competition. Alan Strawn, Dana Carden, Mary Fleenor, Barbara Lawhorne, and Mike Bryant represented the Liberty High School Choral Department at All-State Chorus.

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y elected two representatives to the Model General Assembly. The representatives, Virginia Gilmer and Carol Bolling, attended committee meetings and sessions of a model General Assembly. They learned how our state legislature in Richmond is organized and the procedure for passing a bill.

PRETTY GOOD ODDS, HUH, HOWIE? . . . Carla Zimmerman, Diane Tomlin, Howie Fine, Julie Stanley, and Dinx Jones get ready to leave for S.I.P.A.

ALL TOGETHER NOW . . . Mike Bryant, Barbara Lawhorne, Mary Fleenor, Dana Carden and Alan Strawn practice for the final time before going to All-State Chorus.

I HOPE THEY APPROVE OUR BILL . . . Virginia Gilmer and Carol Bolling go over their bill before leaving for M.G.A.

Achievements Merit Rewards

GIRLS' AND BOYS' STATE DELEGATES . . .
Diane Tomlin, Dana Carden, Dana Newman, Harrell Parker, William McDaniel, Paul White, and Dinx Jones will represent LHS.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' STATE ALTERNATES . . . Kandy Reynolds, Carla Zimmerman, Steve Mayberry, Richard Latimer, Robert Ashwell, and Frank Thomasson were chosen by the junior class to serve as alternates.

BUT MOM DON'T YOU SEE? . . . Martha Key explains her project to her mother during the Matharama exhibition.

The science students of Liberty High School entered projects in the Bedford County Science Fair held on March 10-11. The projects were classified according to seven divisions. Mrs. Gertrude Thaxton awarded the winning trophies on Saturday afternoon.

The Math Club sponsored the annual Matharama on November 22. The projects covered such areas of mathematics as the Pythagorean Theorem, Pascal's Triangle, the law of probability, and an original derivation of π . State math officials and visitors from area schools attended the Matharama.

In February, delegates were elected to attend Boys' and Girls' State. The delegates, composed of high school juniors throughout the state, gained first-hand knowledge of governmental organization.

YOUR BLOOD TYPE IS Z+ . . . Martha Key types Patricia Wilkerson's blood as part of her Science fair project.

Seniors Present "The Mouse That Roared"

AND THEN THE MOUSE SAID, "ROAR" . . . Linda Noell, Terry Phillips, Curtis Vaughn, and Robert Lambeth read excerpts for Senior Play try-outs.

The Senior Class of 1967 presented "The Mouse That Roared" in April. The directors, Miss Stoneman and Mr. Hunter, cast the play on February 27. The cast rehearsed each afternoon during March and April. The stage crew, costume, make-up, and publicity committees—made up of Seniors—helped to insure a successful performance.

"The Mouse That Roared" is based on the movie that established Peter Sellers as an international star. It is a comedy set in the tiny country, the Duchy of Grand Fenwick. In order to restore the economy of her country, the duchess of Grand Fenwick decides to declare war on the United States. Then Grand Fenwick will receive the aid, relief, and rehabilitation which the United States always pours into a country that it has defeated. When the U.S. State Department ignores her declaration of war, the duchess plans to invade the United States and surrender. However, the duchess's plans go wrong when the five-man army of Grand Fenwick wins the war!

"GIMME MY DRESS BACK" . . . Dianne Hylton, Curtis Vaughn, Beverly Snyder, Frank Ruff, and Earl Sutherland examine the costumes to be used in the Senior Play.

Juniors Honor Seniors with Prom

GET TO WORK, MIKE . . . Mary Kay Reynolds, Joan Leftwich, Mike Long, Alan Cayton, and Cindy Smith decorate for the Prom.

"WASN'T IT FUNNY WHEN" . . . Francis Nance relates a humorous incident to Jane Dudek, Bill Graves, Vicki Johnson, Frank Thomasson, and Sue Johnson at an after-prom party.

The Class of 1968 worked industriously throughout April preparing for the Junior-Senior Prom held on May 12. Class members formed various committees which planned the decorations, refreshments, and entertainment for the prom. The chairmen of these committees worked closely with one another in order to coordinate the plans of the committees. With the guidance of their class sponsors and class officers, the juniors provided a memorable evening for the seniors.

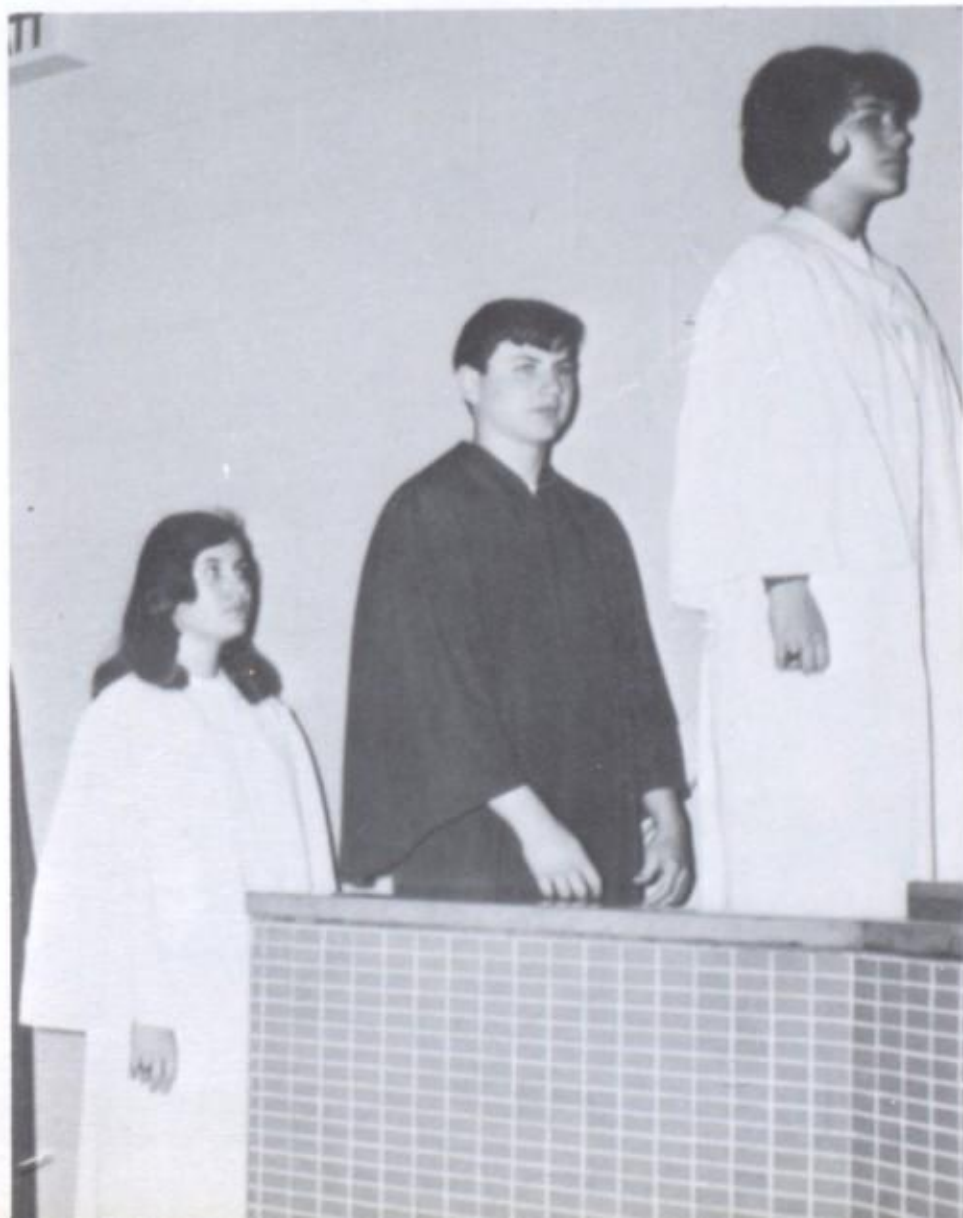

"OHhh, WAYNE" . . . Wayne Bailey gives his date Karen Zimmerman her corsage before leaving for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Graduation—An End and a Beginning

"HOW ABOUT 'DRIFTING AND DREAMING'?" . . . Mary Elizabeth DeWitt, Donna Hylton, Carolyn Creasey, Curtis Vaughn, Mary Elizabeth Tomlinson, and Ronnie Fainter discuss plans for class night.

FORWARD MARCH . . . Mary Elizabeth DeWitt, Curtis Vaughn, and Lynne Scott rehearse for baccalaureate.

STAND UP STRAIGHT, JACK . . . Mrs. Sigmon measures Jack Perrow's height for his graduation gown.

For a Senior, the last months of his final year are filled with preparations for that long-awaited event, graduation.

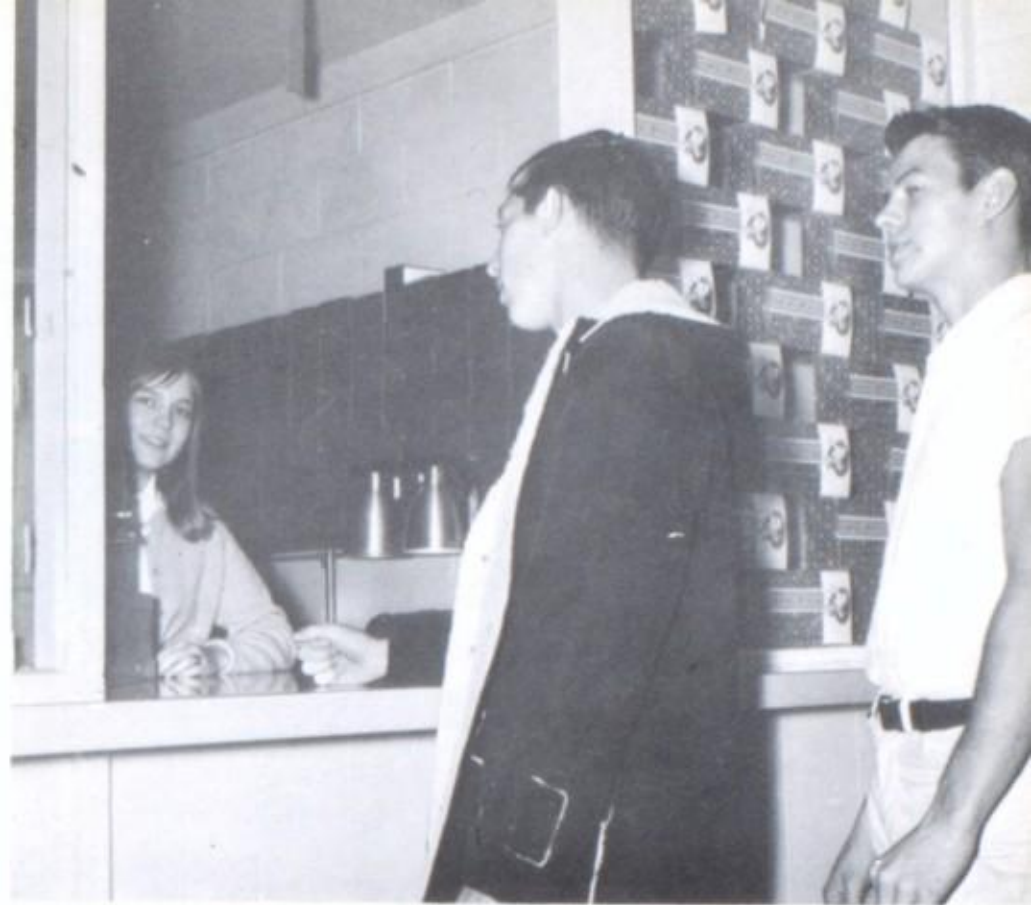

At a class meeting on February 20, all Seniors ordered announcements for graduation exercises. Each homeroom teacher measured the students for caps and gowns, and the commencement committees held numerous meetings to discuss both class night and graduation.

Class night began with a banquet which was followed by an entertaining program. The students read the last will and testament, the class prophecy, and acted out the Senior superlatives.

After many lengthy practice sessions, the Seniors marched to their places and the graduation exercises began. The honor students delivered their speeches, and Mr. Lee presented the Seniors with their diplomas.

The Class of 1967 departed from Liberty High realizing that this was not an end, but the beginning of a new world filled with expectations for a successful life.

PATRONAGE

The encouragement of an interested community permitted a publication of broader scope. Concern and financial support on the part of local industry improved relations between school and community.

In 1882 Edison had a great idea - - and it wasn't the electric light!

The whole idea of investor-ownership of electric light and power companies began when Thomas A. Edison and a group of investors financed his first power plant more than 80 years ago.

Since then, investor-owned companies like ours have become an integral part of America's Free Enterprise system. That explains why today we have at our fingertips more electric power than any other country in the world.

And it's this same Free Enterprise system that puts at your fingertips greater opportunity, greater expectation for success than can be hoped for by any other young people in the world.

CONGRATULATIONS

to the new graduates

As parents, neighbors, and friends we naturally have a special interest in the quality of our schools.

No community is better than its schools, and no school is better than the determination and willingness of a community to support standards high enough and broad enough to meet tomorrow's levels of need, both vocationally and for citizenship.

"GIVE TO THE WORLD THE BEST THAT YOU HAVE"
 ... Mr. Sherman, assistant principal, confers with the graduation committee on the choice of a speaker. Four senior sponsors, Miss Ahalt, Mrs. Sigmon, Mr. Hunter, and Miss Stoneman, appointed to the committee, and the student representatives, Betty Cash, Joe Laughon, and Tera Yoder recommend the graduation theme and guest speaker to be voted on by class members.
